Annual Babson report Shortages to bring new life style in 1974

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., December 27, 1973. Shortly after publication of our 1973 forecast, a vital change in the ground rules occurred when the Administration suddenly put into effect Phase 3 of its economic game plan.

With fear of inadequacies of food and feed supplies already driving prices upward, this unexpectedly early shift in policy sent many other prices soaring.

In our forecast of a year ago, we warned against succumbing to the outright optimism on 1973 then prevailing, citing inflation as a possible pocket of serious trouble.

Despite some problems no one could predict, factory output, retail trade, profits, employment, personal income, and business capital expenditures achieved the lofty results we projected.

Except for limitations of productive capacity and transportation, 1973 could have seen larger gains.

CHANGE IN LIFESTYLE AHEAD
The staff of Babson's Reports now detects signs of a period of change in the life style of the nation's populace.

For an indefinite time, rising costs along with inadequate supplies of fuel and energy could force alterations in demand and living habits, just as high prices and short supplies of food have forced changes in our diet. Industrial and commercial establishments and even the nation's international posture could be affected. Use of leisure time and consumer shopping habits may be influenced.

Even protection of the environment could become less imperative. On the positive side, however, the might of the country's research and technology will be brought to bear most forcefully upon the fuel and energy problems.

SOME LETDOWN FOR 1974
Even before the energy shortage had reached acute proportions, there were increasing signals that the cyclical rise in economic activity was aging.

In 1973 this three-year-old had already encountered production capacity limitations in one industry after another of a nature not easily remedied. Then came the fuel shortage to pinch matters. So, with interest rates at stratospheric levels and credit supplies still stringent, some letdown seems inevitable for 1974.

At this juncture, its magnitude is iffy, depending in large measure upon how long and how onerous the curtailment of Midwest oil supplies turns out to be. Even if the spigots were soon turned on again, we would not be likely to escape without some industrial and commercial disruptions, while consumers

SINKING LIKE THE CITY TREASURY. A Finis Ernest Co. truck was slowly dropping late yesterday afternoon into a new sewer break discovered about 50 feet from a former break on Amox Avenue behind the Nameoki Fire Station. Two breaks were discovered yesterday, bringing the total to 20. Granite City already has spent more than $1 million this year repairing breaks. Street department employees are pictured as they studied ways to halt the truck's descent into the hole as more dirt gave way beneath it. Shown are Clarence Baker, left, and Dan Rapoff. The truck was saved, but the city's 21st sewer break was discovered today. (Press-Record Photo)

Shop center lanes could block growth

By HARRY BARNES, Press-Record Staff Writer
The Granite City Council overrode objections of Nameoki Village Shopping Center merchants Wednesday night to enact an ordinance establishing emergency vehicle lanes in the shopping center area.

In other developments, the council:

1. Delayed for the second time a vote on a resolution finalizing the purchase of a tract of land at Johnson Road and Richmond Avenue for construction of a new fire station. A delegation of neighborhood residents protesting location of the firehouse at that site again appeared at the council session.

2. Defeated a motion to suspend the rules for final passage of a resolution that would require requests from the city clerk's office before purchases could be made by any department. It also was the second time that measure was held up. The bill was placed on first reading.

3. Spent nearly 45 minutes in debate on a proposal by the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners for revision of the structure of the Granite City Police Department. Meetings with Chamber of Commerce and downtown realtors' representatives are planned before final recommendations are made to the council by the council's Police and Finance committees.

The Aldermen voted 9 to 2, with three council members absent, to establish proposed fire lanes in the Nameoki Village center although Leo Konzen, attorney representing merchants, asked that discussions be held between the city and the merchants to agree on emergency lanes that would not interfere with expansion plans. Konzen said the merchants are not opposed to emergency lanes and, in fact, favor them, but do not agree with the lanes as mapped in the ordinance presented two weeks ago and passed last night.

He said the city's proposal would interfere with expansion plans of Gasen Drugs and future expansion plans of other Nameoki Village stores. The proposed lanes also would extend directly through the parking area.

Council members said they were willing to meet with the merchants and revise the lanes if necessary, but that prompt action should be taken to establish some emergency

Walker visit here Jan. 10

For the third time in recent weeks, Illinois Governor Daniel Walker has scheduled an accountability session in Granite City. The new time is 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 10, at the Granite City High School North cafeteria, Maryville and Nameoki Roads.

The public is being invited to attend and present questions and comments on the needs of this area. Microphones will be provided at several locations in the audience. Gov. Walker will respond to all the topics raised during the one-hour session.

His aides then will remain longer to note any additional questions that could not be voiced due to lack of time; written replies will be for-

Competition in 9 of 11 Nameoki precinct races

Opposition for Democratic precinct committeemen posts in Nameoki Township will highlight the election of committeemen in the 61 precincts of the four Quad-City townships of Granite City, Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau in next year's March 19 primary balloting.

Races in nine of Nameoki Township's 11 precincts have developed, with the incumbent committeeman in each of those precincts seeking re-election.

Incumbent Democratic committeemen in four of Granite City's 32 precincts have opposition—precincts 10, 19, 20 and 23—but there is no opposition in any of the remaining 28 precincts.

Chouteau has opposition for only two of its seven committeemen posts, while Venice is without a single contest and lacks a Democratic candidate in precinct 10. Venice has 11 precincts.

Precinct committeemen are elected, rather than nominated, in the primary election. The Republican party lacks candidates in most of the precincts throughout the area.

In Nameoki Township there is one candidate each for committee posts in precincts 3, 6 and 9. There are no candidates for the other eight posts in that township.

There are Republican candidates, without opposition, for seven of Granite City's 32 committee posts, and no filings in the other 25. Only one candidate filed in Venice Township for one of the 11 posts there, and only two candidates are seeking election in two of the seven precincts of Chouteau Township.

Nameoki Township candidates without opposition are Joseph Garcia, precinct 3, and Homer Boothman of precinct 4. Both are incumbents.

Incumbent committeemen are opposed in seven of the other nine Nameoki precincts—precincts 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. In precincts 10 and 11 the opposition is between two candidates in precinct 10 and three candidates in precinct 11, where the incumbents are not seeking re-election.

Floyd Davis Moss, mayor of Pontoon Beach and incumbent Democratic committeeman of Precinct 1, is seeking re-election, opposed by Lillian L.

Singer, while in precinct 2, incumbent Thomas G. Hill is opposed by Richard L. Peck.

Helen Hawkins, leader of a group of residents of the Doherty Slough area in their fight for drainage improvements, has filed as a committeeman candidate in Nameoki precinct 5 to oppose the incumbent, Ira Dean Harrell.

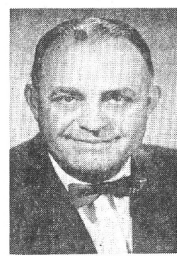

Incumbent Committeeman William Thomas in precinct 6 is opposed by Lloyd Miller Jr., while Frank Mehelec, incumbent in precinct 7, is opposed by Eugene Garace, a member of the Nameoki town board.

Harry A. Briggs, incumbent committeeman of precinct 8 and a former township supervisor, is opposed by Joseph W. Bolt. Incumbent Raymond L. Gaudette Jr. is opposed by David L. Johnson in precinct 9.

Candidates in precinct 10 are David Huckla, former assistant township supervisor, and Charles "Buz" Koller. Leo F. Portell, incumbent, did not file for re-election.

In precinct 11, three candidates are running.

GEORGE T. WILKINS SR., new chairman of a committee assisting in planning of college services for the Quad-City area.

College planning to start

Specific planning for community college services in the Quad-City area is about to begin.

Dr. H. J. Haberaecker, president of the Belleville Area College, and members of his staff will visit this community Jan. 9 to confer with educators and training officials on the type of programs and services needed and desired here.

With the basic tasks of the Community College Committee completed, Attorney Leo H. Konzen has stepped down as chairman.

Heading the committee for a new phase of endeavor, coordination with BAC, will be George T. Wilkins Sr. of Granite City, a retired university professor who served as Illinois' superintendent of public instruction in 1959-62.

In the Jan. 9 discussion, Konzen will summarize past activities of the study group, staff members will be introduced. President Haberaecker will review present services and planning procedures, and "questions will be answered."

The Illinois Community College Board on Dec. 21 formally annexed the Granite City, Madison and Venice school districts into one of its other school systems to the territory of Belleville Area College, effective July 1, 1974.

Those arranging the Jan. 9 conference are the BAC and the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Do's and don't's for 'right turn on red'

Beginning at midnight New Year's Eve, Illinois motorists will be allowed a new driving privilege, right turns on red traffic lights after motorists make a full stop. The rule does not apply where signs "No Turn on Red" are posted.

The privilege has been extended to motorists in St. Louis County and portions of St. Louis for many years and experts have reported no major increases in traffic accidents, but the changeover in Illinois may cause some confusion.

Drivers aware of the new law may honk their horns at others in front of them who do not know they may proceed on the red signal and other motorists may be confused about the new law and end up in an accident, experts feel. The law has been shown to speed up the flow of traffic where it has been in use.

Officials emphasize that the right turn on the red traffic light will be allowed only after a full stop and when cross-traffic has cleared.

Those utilizing the privilege must yield the right-of-way to those with the green light. The turn will be allowed only where there are no signs posted.

"No turn on red" signs may be posted at intersections of more than two streets, where a separate pedestrian phase is used in the traffic signals, where visibility is restricted or at intersections with high-speed highways.

Heavy pedestrian volume crossings or multi-phase signals also may warrant prohibiting the right turn on red.

The new law also provides left turns on red traffic lights, but only where a one-way street meets another one-way street. This privilege also may be prohibited where signs are posted.

Highway officials emphasized that the right turn on red at the intersection of two one-way streets is allowed at all stop lights unless prohibited by signs.

The State Department of Transportation has the sole authority to post the signs along state highways and to control access into state highways. Each city has the authority to post the signs at intersections within that city which do not involve a state highway.

In a notice to all cities, the State Department of Transportation commented, "Experience in other states has indicated that this movement can be made safely and it is the State of Illinois Department of Transportation's intention to limit the use of the sign (prohibiting the turn on red)."

WHAT ENERGY CRISIS? State Senator Sam M. Vadabene of this district helps ease the fuel shortage by chopping firewood in his back yard. "Vice-President Gerald Ford made a point of distinguishing himself from Abraham Lincoln," Sen. Vadabene commented, "so I will, too. I don't seek to be compared to Lincoln, the great rail-splitter. But if people want to think of me as 'Sam the stump-splitter,' that's fine with me."

vehicular right-of-way to reach store areas.

Alderman Everett Morlen said he had been trying for a year and a half to get firms interested in working out a fire lane map, but that he got no response.

One of the aldermen referred to the lanes as being mapped by the city engineer, Monroe clear through the city clerk, although he is the city's purchasing agent, and that the budget for certain items easily can be overspent before anyone knows it.

The lengthy discussion on the proposed revision of the police department structure developed after Parmley told the council that the Police and Finance Committees had met for discussion of recommendations by the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners and that a meeting with the board was planned to clarify some points.

This led to a general discussion of the recommendations during which George Hecker, chairman of the fire and police board, told the council that he is willing to meet with the committees, but that "We have made our recommendations and I don't know what more we can do. Its up to you. We're just chewing up time. You have our thinking and other than to reemphasize our recommendations there is nothing we can add."

Alderman Nann suggested the matter be taken up with Chamber of Commerce and downtown retailers representatives because one of the recommendations at issue involves the removal of regular police officers from parking meter duty. They would be replaced by civilian personnel.

Dan Churovich, director of the Madison County Emergency Employment program, told the council that the federal government plans to phase out the program and that unless the city wants to absorb the nine employees now hired for the site under the program, these workers should be given layoff notices.

The council agreed there is no way to retain the employees financially. The matter was referred to City Attorney George Filcoff for determination of the city's responsibility under its original agreement.

Alderman Nann said he would vote against the site because he had learned it once was offered to the city for $8,000.

Why should we buy it now at a cost of $12,000? he asked.

Discussion was halted on a motion for deferral by Parmley.

A motion to suspend the rules for final passage of the resolution setting up a purchasing system requiring requisitions was defeated by a vote of 8 in favor and 3 against.

Cancel test of siren network

The usual monthly test sounding of Granite City's warning siren network will not take place Tuesday due to the New Year's Day holiday, Victor H. Koenig, GC chief defense director, said today.

"All equipment is functioning satisfactorily and we see no reason to test the network at this time," Koenig added.

Sirens are activated for brief test periods on the first Tuesday of each month at 10:20 a.m., unless inclement weather conditions prevail and a test may be misconceived by the public as an actual warning, Koenig explained.

Tree of Lights at $15,272

Contributions to the Salvation Army's "Tree of Lights" campaign to raise funds for food baskets, clothing and treats for needy families at Christmas time continues to climb today with donations now totaling $15,272.

More than 500 families, including many older persons who faced the prospect of an unhappy and lonely holiday, found the season to be a "time of sharing," Captain Ronald J. Kerley, Salvation Army commander, said today.

Theme of the 1973 fund-raising drive—"Sharing is Caring" and "Need Knows No Season"—truly was reflected in the generous response by Quad-City residents, Ralph Astorian, drive chairman, noted.

Helping to push the drive total over the $15,500 goal were donations amounting to $1,000 from the Madison County Deputy Sheriff's Association, $325 from the A. O. Smith Corp. Salaried Employees and $300 from the Telephone Pioneers of America.

Individuals contributing change in the traditional "red trolley" to those mailing checks for $25 and more all aided in the Army's effort to provide a merrier and memorable holiday for Quad-City families in need and those alone in area nursing homes, the Salvation Army officer said.

Donors of $25 or more to the "Tree of Lights" campaign, include:

Claude Echols; Norman Stilwell; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Lucido; Miss Beatrice Cooley; Gabriel Shrine 78, Order of the White Star of Jerusalem; David Lucy; Arthur and Bernice Grimm; Herbert F. Buente; Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary 1290.

$1 billion Belleville College assessment

The Belleville Area College board last night discussed expansion plans and employed Bruce Wisser as administrative assistant to aid in coordinating the expansion of services.

President H. J. Haberecker noted that the district territory will more than double, extending north to Highland and the Quad-Cities in Madison County and south to the Sparta and Chester areas. Assessed valuation will rise from $449,000,000 to $1,100,000,000.

Population to be served after annexations become effective July 1 will exceed 350,000 persons, he related.

While the tax rate for bonds and interest is likely to decrease next year, other elements of the rate are likely to remain stable as services are provided to new areas, the president said. BAC will continue to operate on a sound fiscal basis, he pledged.

Due to class delays resulting from last week's snowfall, spring semester classes will start Jan. 21 instead of Jan. 14. Registration will take place Jan. 7-9, and schedule changes are set for the week of Jan. 14.

Examinations scheduled for Dec. 19 will be held Jan. 2 and those from Dec. 20 will take place Jan. 3.

GC firemen have busy Wednesday

Granite City firemen responded to three calls Wednesday and one early today.

A fire reported at 8:55 p.m. in the home of Robert Butler, 2411 Logan Ave., caused $1,500 damage to the home and $200 to the contents.

Firemen could not determine the cause of the fire that was located in the bathroom and a closet. Two pumps responded, returning in an hour.

Firemen were called to the 2500 block of Spaulding Avenue where a fire was reported in another house; but it was steam from drying clothes which gave the appearance of heavy smoke.

At 11:55 p.m. the trash bin at the rear of Jack-in-the-Box Restaurant, 3330 Nameoki Road, caught on fire. No damage resulted.

At 1:25 a.m. today, the department answered a false alarm to Superior Auto Body, 1431 Iowa St.

HOUSE BURGLARY
Eugene Hall, 916 rear Franklin St., Madison, reported to police at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday that thieves forced a door to his house and took a new stereo valued at $178.

Park Board ok's purchase

Authorization to purchase 40 feet of storage bins at a cost of $300 for the new park maintenance building which is almost completed, was given by members of the Granite City Park Board last night at their regular meeting.

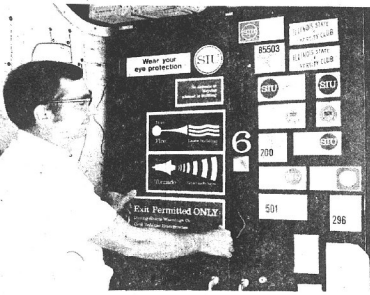

The board also approved a five-cent per ride profit increase to Ray Swayer of New Athens who will provide carnival rides at the annual July 4 celebration at Wilson Park.

Action on unfinished and new business was tabled until the board's next regular meeting at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 23.

Bumper stickers, nameplates part of sign service at SIUE

Bumper stickers, desk nameplates, traffic signs, binder cover imprints—they're all part of the daily production routine at the University Sign Service operated by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

All of the signs for the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses of SIU, as well as signs for several other institutions of higher learning in Illinois, are produced in the SIUE shop, which is located in the Wagner complex in downtown Edwardsville.

Ray M. Eyman, manager of the service, believes SIUE has one of the best equipped sign shops in the nation. Most signs are produced by machines, using die-cut letters. A hand-lettered sign is a rarity, needed occasionally for conferences and other special occasions.

The machines and equipment range all the way from a 5 by 12-foot heat vacuum applicator, which activates the adhesive that holds reflective materials to metal signs, to an "ancient" hand-fed platen press. The press has been converted for use with a large numbering machine made in Germany especially for SIU. The sophisticated machine, operating in the old press, imprints registration numbers on vehicle bumper stickers for the SIU campuses.

The sign shop has its own darkroom and photographic equipment, with an 18 by 24-inch camera for photo screen processing.

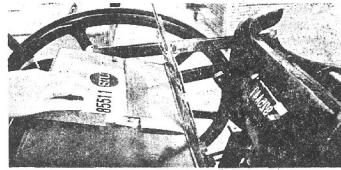

Engraved signs are a specialty with the SIUE service. Nameplates by the hundreds keep the engraving machine running most of the time.

Eyman has a full-time assistant and three part-time student workers in the highly automated service. Eyman has been a sign painter for 26 years. He operated his own business in Edwardsville before starting the sign service for SIUE nearly seven years ago.

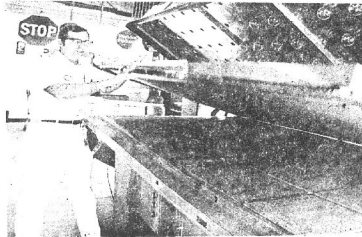

THE SIGN SERVICE at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville imprints binder covers for university projects. Bill Carter, an employee at the sign service, is rinsing a stencil which will be used for a two-color screen process in producing a binder for the Institute of Housing Management of the SIUE School of Business.

HAND-LETTERED SIGNS are unusual in these days of automation. Unrolling a special sign painted for a Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville education conference is Ray M. Eyman, manager of the SIUE Sign Service. Most signs produced by SIUE are made with die-cut letters.

Six Granite City Steel employees have retired after completing careers lasting from 15 to 34 years. Longest-serving employee was Steve Prusak, 2113 Lindell Blvd., Granite City.

Prusak started as a tin mill clerk in October 1939. He had a previous record of service with GCS prior to that. After working as a supervisor in various departments, he became roll shop chief clerk and served in that position for the past 10 years.

Prusak and his wife, Josephine, have two daughters.

Snow puts out porch fire

A soft drink bottle containing gasoline residue was found in the yard of Everett Chastain, 2149 Grand Ave., after a fire on the front porch had been extinguished early this week by neighborhood children using snow. According to firemen, someone poured gas on the porch. Damage was minor.

Granite City firemen answered a call at 11:50 p.m. Sunday to a tavern at 1539 Madison Ave., where a short circuit in wiring caused $100 damage.

to question him about state government and what state government should be doing for people. All questions will be answered by Gov. Walker and some of the questions and answers will appear, probably condensed, in this column. Letters must be signed and an address provided. Upon request, your name will be withheld. Send to: ASK THE GOVERNOR, Illinois Information Service, 201 W. Monroe St., Springfield, Illinois 62706.

Ask the Governor

Q. The five states that surround Illinois have fewer school districts than the entire state of Illinois. Does your administration have any plans to change the number of school districts in Illinois in the next two years?—Watska.

A. I favor the consolidation of school districts because it saves the taxpayers money, but I am not going to cram it down anyone's throat. I do not approve of the penalties that were utilized in the past to force dual districts into unit districts.

I know that we have some inefficiencies in Illinois that are the result of local control over schools. But, that inefficiency and that waste is a price we have to pay for something I think is very near and dear to all of us. I don't want control over our schools to be in a bureaucracy in Springfield. And, I don't want control over our schools in a bureaucracy in Washington, D.C. I want it right where the parents can walk down the streets to a school board meeting to have some say and control in what happens in their schools.

If Springfield tells you how big a district you should have, local control is being taken away. So, while I would like to see larger districts because of the efficiency that would result from consolidation, I want the decision concerning consolidation to be made not by me, not by bureaucrats in Springfield, but by people who have come to realize that consolidation is good for them. This is the American way. When we do things this way, we get a lot better results. Gov. Dan Walker invites you

Melissa's talent blossoms

So Manchester as a new refreshing talent, her story is not that of an overnight success. It's more like that of a rose that's been growing over the years and finally blossomed into a beautiful flower. For Melissa it's been a long road. She started singing commercials at the age of 15 and was working small college coffeehouses at 18.

"Actually I never really pursued music seriously until recently," said the Bell recording artist. "But I've been trying to get a record deal since I was seventeen. I guess I probably wasn't very good and if you're not really ready then things shouldn't be happening."

"Things are going quite nicely now with the release of her introductory album 'Home to Myself' which is full of powerful yet tender sensual ballads, all penned by herself and her friend Carol Seger. 'Carol comes from the simple school of good writing,' she said, 'And before I met her my lyrics tended to get hung up in metaphoric chaos at times, but she had a very calming and simplifying effect, so we tempered each other to where I might embellish a simple line of hers, and she will calm down a chaotic line of mine."

Melissa's warm and simple writing style was helped along by studying with Paul Simon who taught her to say things as simply as possible and if you run out of words make up your own.

"I love to write and I was more prolific but it never occurs to me to write shop, shop. A song has to mean something to me and these are the ones that I perform because they say this is my point and I've made it. You know writing is hard but if a song feels good let it ride; if not, throw it away cause you haven't conveyed your thought properly," Melissa said.

Melissa's style has been further influenced by things she's picked up from other writers and poets.

"I've read a lot of old English poets and I'm seeing now how they painted pictures with words," she said. "My method was to use words not only as something to listen to but as a tool to offer sensual experiences as far as sounds. So that you may say 'I like you' but you find a combination of words that say the same things but with a little more excitement to them."

Melissa is what you would call a good musician, for she generates excitement and warmth without being overpowering. Born and raised in the city (New York), she grew up with a classical background, her father being a bassoonist with the Met opera and her mother a singer.

"I had good people to listen to when I was growing up, you know, all the really fine crooners plus a lot of opera and classical music," she said. "Actually I would have to classify my music as urban renewal and I sing possibly that same way. The album 'Home to Myself' is just my way of saying hello. My next one will have a completely different energy level, because it's a common problem to write too many ballads and not enough up-tempo songs."

"But ballads are just good singing because they allow you so much room for play and interpretation. If I could get away with it I'd sing nothing but ballads. Actually I'm a late learner because I don't listen to that much contemporary music."

For example, when I come home I usually turn on classical music, therefore many of my own melodies are classically based. Like the choral structures. I guess it's my roots coming out because to me it's a tragedy for anybody to deny their true roots. If you ignore them you have a tendency to be lying to yourself."

Melissa hopes that the musical trends will lead back to people listening. She says she doesn't care if people don't like what she's doing as long as they have listened to what she's had to say because that's really the only way for them to evaluate a performer properly.

"I think today's electronic music has taken a strong hold," she said. "But people don't go to a concert to listen, they go more for the excitement. It holds and to be washed over by loud sounds so as not to fall asleep."

"I guess this sounds old-fashioned but it's just not spiritually fulfilling to me. My ideal would be to work with a full symphony orchestra, led by a brilliant conductor and just sing my heart out while these fabulous musicians make music."

"Take the melatron, for example. It's been banned in many places because it puts a lot of people out of work. I'd much rather hire a bunch of musicians and let them beat, bang and belch instead of plugging into a socket and pushing a button to make music. To do that is sacrilegious and I'd never use one in my records or my live performances."

Well, that's Melissa Manchester and over the years she's learned a lot of good things and a lot of bad, but she's learned and thus become one of the best female vocalists to come along in quite some time.

Trojans, Steelers vie in 16-school tourney

Sixteen high school cage squads, representing every corner of the state except the Deep South, are gathered at Edwardsville High School in search of the sixth Holiday Classic Basketball Tournament championship.

The meet got under way at 9 a.m. today, with Glenbard East and Bethalto Civic Memorial colliding.

The Madison Trojans, ranked number one in small schools, were to meet the Roxana Shells at 10:30 a.m., followed by a 1 o'clock pairing of East St. Louis and Jerseyville, and Peoria Woodruff vs. Highland at 2:30 p.m.

Area fans might well remember a Madison squad in 1963 which defeated its first two opponents while a raging ice storm converged on the area.

The defending tournament champion in 1967, Edwardsville, was eliminated with two defeats and the championship battle narrowed down to Madison and Triad (Troy-St. Jacob-Marine).

The Triad Knights defeated the local squad to take the title that year. The best Madison has finished in the tournament since then was third place in consolation last year.

Roxana, which downed Bethalto 51-47 last week, entered today's competition with a 4-2 record off the scoring of two former Edwardsville standouts, 6-4 senior Steve Corbin and 6-5 junior Chris Schroeder.

The Madison Trojans' pre-tourney record of 6-2 includes five consecutive victories. MHS has defeated both Granite City high schools and also the Venice Red Devils.

Granite City High School North, which replaced Gillespie after that school pulled out of the Edwardsville tournament, is scheduled to clash with Robinson at 9:30 p.m. today.

The Steelers of North could earn a chance to avenge their 65-46 loss to Madison if both local squads survive today and tomorrow undefeated and also triumph in the semifinals. They would then meet Saturday at 9:30 p.m. for the tournament championship.

If the local squads win today, they will advance to tomorrow's championship quarterfinals, Madison at 10:30 a.m. against the winner of today's 9 a.m. game and GCHS North at 9:30 p.m. Friday against the winner of tonight's 8 o'clock clash between Edwardsville and Litchfield.

Today's schedule includes Elk Grove-Triad at 4 and Hillsboro-Wood River at 6:30. A victory by both teams tomorrow would pit Madison against either East St. Louis, Jerseyville, Peoria Woodruff or Highland at 1 p.m. Saturday and Granite City North with either Elk Grove, Triad, Hillsboro or Wood River at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, both in the championship semifinals.

In capsule form, the winners' bracket offers Madison games at 10:30 a.m. Friday, 1 p.m. Saturday and 9:30 p.m. Saturday. A loss in the third start would put the Trojans in the winners' third-place game at 8 p.m. Saturday.

North's winners' bracket competition after tonight would be at 9:30 p.m. Friday, 2:30 p.m. Saturday and then either 8 p.m. or 9:30 p.m. Saturday.

Madison's consolation games, assuming victories after an initial loss, would be played at 9 a.m. Friday, 9 a.m. Saturday and either 4 p.m. Saturday (consolation third-place) or 6:30 p.m. Saturday (consolation title).

The Steelers' consolation play would be at 8 p.m. Friday, 10:30 a.m. Saturday and either 4 or 6:30 Saturday.

The Edwardsville High gymnasium will be kept busy throughout the three days, from 9 a.m. to nearly 11 p.m. each day.

The only certain result is that a new tourney champion will be crowned. This was made certain when defending titlist

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Thurs., Dec. 27, 1973 Page 5

Lincoln, Ill., which had won back-to-back championships at Edwardsville, chose not to return.

Also not returning from last year is the runner-up team, Bloomington.

Holiday mat classic underway at South

All-out effort in 12 closely matched weight classes for two full days will be necessary for anyone of the 16 schools from Illinois and Missouri which hopes to win the 13th annual Granite City Holiday Wrestling Tournament which began at noon today at the GCHS South gymnasium.

Host school South enters the annual wrestling classic as the favorite to deny Riverview Gardens a third consecutive tourney championship.

The Warriors have not lost a dual meet in almost three years, having posted their 50th consecutive victory last weekend with a 44-9 victory over Ritenour of St. Louis. That record does not include tournament results.

Ironically, the Warriors, which placed second in last year's tournament, lost their last dual meet to Riverview Gardens in the 1970-71 wrestling season.

South and Riverview will meet only once in today's pairings. The two clash in the 167 pound division in the first round of competition with Brian Wilson representing the Warriors.

Four undefeated South matmen will see action. They are: Woody Halbrook (98 pounds), Pat MacMillan (112), John Niebur (126), and Don Heath (132).

Granite City High School North boasts a 4-1 season record and five undefeated Steelers—Niel Pierson (105), Rudy Pyle (112), Phil Shands (119), Eric Schmisser (126), and heavyweight John McMillon.

The mat tournament also will be unique in that both local high schools will meet for the first time in varsity wrestling competition. The Steelers' Neil Pierson will be pitted against South's Steve Garland in 105 pound competition.

The remaining 13 schools participating in the annual event are Belleville East, Bloomington, Cahokia, Wood River, Hazelwood, Mo., Jacksonville, East St. Louis, Lincoln, McCluer North of Florissant, Mo., Normandy, Mo., Pekin, Ritenour of Overland, Mo., Roxana, and Stephen Decatur.

Other first day pairings for North and South by weight class are: 98 pound — North vs. Jacksonville and South vs. Hazelwood; 112 — North vs. McCluer and South vs. Lincoln; 119 — South vs. Roxana and North vs. Decatur; 126 — North vs. Riverview Gardens and South vs. Ritenour; 132 — South vs. McCluer and North vs. Lincoln; 136 — North vs. Normandy and South vs. McCluer; 145 — North vs. Wood River and South vs. Cahokia; 155 — North vs. Cahokia and South vs. Bloomington; 167 — North vs. Roxana; 185 — South Wood River and North vs. Belleville East and Heavyweight — South vs. Decatur and North vs. Bloomington.

At noon tomorrow, mat action will continue with the final two rounds beginning at 6 p.m. to decide the championships.

Winners in the first round will be pitted against other match winners, and losers will wrestle in a losers' bracket. The four survivors in each weight's losers' brackets will be paired and wrestle. The two winners will then compete in a round-robin with the sole remaining undefeated wrestler in each class. The wrestler emerging victorious will be crowned the individual champion in his respective weight class.

Last year, no Warrior captured individual championships in the meet as South racked up 84½ team points. The Steelers of GCHS North are competing in their first holiday tournament as a new school.

State scholarships available

High school graduates of any age level who wish to continue their education in college and who can show financial need may apply now for 1974-75 monetary awards granted through the Illinois State Scholarship Commission.

Applicants may be eligible to receive up to $1,500 per year toward their tuition and fees at over 180 approved Illinois colleges, universities and hospitals of nursing.

According to William J. Hilton, commission director, there is no age limit on this program and no required test scores of grades.

The primary eligibility requirement for Illinois residents is financial need.

Current high school seniors or older persons who can meet the financial qualifications are being encouraged to apply immediately so that funds available through this program can be successfully matched with limited funds which might be accessible to them on college campuses, Hilton said.

The new site at Camp Sunnen near Potosi, Mo., will be built this spring and ready for use by summer. The site will be named in honor of a local Scout leader, but the name is being withheld until the dinner.

C. A. McMillan, executive director of the Coordinated Youth Services agency in Granite City, stressed that applicants do not have to be presently in school.

"This program could apply to an older person who wishes to upgrade his or her job capabilities," he pointed out. Application forms are available from the CYV office, 1255 Niedringhaus Ave., or from the Illinois State Scholarship Commission, P. O. Box 607, Deerfield, Ill. 60015.

To name campsite Friday

Highlighting an Order of the Arrow dinner at 6:30 p.m. Friday in the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh and Lee street, Madison, will be the naming of a new troop campsite.

According to Kevin Kearns of Granite City, 150 members of the Cahokia Lodge are expected to attend.

Mike Billrey of Venice is the local lodge chief and Reginald Mennerick is the local advisor.

Conservation unit sets annual meet

Robert D. Walker, University of Illinois Extension Natural Resources specialist, will be the featured speaker at the Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District annual meeting, Tuesday, Feb. 19, at the Salem United Church of Christ, Alhambra.

Walker will present a slide and tape program entitled "This is Our Land," combining colored photography with stereo-tape recorded popular, country, classical, and religious music and a short narrative to give a forceful look at man and his environment.

Three directors will be elected to the district board and awards and recognition will be given for outstanding conservation achievements.

Tickets for the dinner meeting at 7 p.m. are available at $5 each from the directors or the district office on Old Alton Road, Edwardsville.

Critics to the contrary, the volunteer army is doing just fine, thank you.

At least, so say the men in charge of two-thirds of the main recruiting stations for Illinois. Admittedly, they may be somewhat biased—after all, they have received extensive, expensive training to be "salesmen in uniform."

With the deal they're offering, it would seem it would sell itself. But their biggest problem is that people won't believe them.

After all, an army where you choose your duty (and location including Europe) before signing up, and can "quit" if you don't get it? Where you never wear a uniform off base, where k.p. and policing the area are done by private firms, on contract?

Where barracks are replaced by dorms with no more than three men to a room (they can paint or decorate any way they choose)? Where mess halls have been eliminated, and enlisted men can shop around for the base dining facility that has a menu they most fancy?

Where one post dining facility is open 24 hours a day, and the enlisted men can wander over for a pizza at midnight if he feels the urge?

That's already the scene in varying degrees at different bases, says Lt. Col. William M. Onellion Jr., commanding officer of the U.S. Army recruiting main station at Peoria, and Lt. Col. Larry (cq) Padgett, whose East St. Louis main station covers downstate Illinois and some of Missouri. The third station for Illinois covers metropolitan Chicago.

The two downstate stations average 300 volunteers a month each, Col. Padgett says—and that's men actually sworn in. Far more apply but are either turned down on the scene by the recruiter for obvious reasons—men have applied with only one eye, or wearing braces for crippling disabilities—or they are turned down during processing because they fail mental, physical or moral tests.

The "moral" aspect is more important in today's army, Col. Padgett says. The days when the judge said "you go to jail or you join the army" are over—the new army won't take you if you've ever been convicted on a drug charge, or if you've been convicted of theft of $150 or more.

Because the new army is so different, all the tests are more stringent, Col. Onellion says, and the ones for women are even more strict than those for men. Men can volunteer between 17 and 54, but a woman must be 18.

Men can have a high school diploma, a GED equivalency certificate or pass the mental tests; a woman must have the degree or the certificate. Once accepted, she can go into any job, at the same pay, that the army offers, except combat. One just finished jump training, and one just started training as a helicopter pilot.

Between them, the colonels direct about 250 recruiting sergeants, part of a recruiting force of about 5,000 in the nation.

As with any organization so big, some recruiters are going to take the easy way, Col. Onellion says, which gives rise to reports the "new army" is made up of drop-outs, rejects, failures and fugitives from the law.

Instead, he said, the new army with about 790,000 men, has 13 combat ready divisions—more than at the height of the Vietnam conflict with over a million men in uniform.

It's like telling Alvin Karpis to switch to making passenger cars and then four months later saying they've failed because they aren't producing cars yet," the colonel says.

"There hasn't been time yet to show that an army made up of men who are there because they choose to be there, is going to out-perform an army of men who are there because they were forced to be."

He's convinced, he says, that day is on the way.

Carroll-Chapline nuptials at St. Joseph's Church

St. Joseph Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding on Dec. 21 of Miss Kitty Ann Chapline, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Chapline, 2428 E. 25th St., and Robert Louis Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Carroll, 2534 Spalding Ave.

The Rev. Henry J. Mack officiated at the double ring ceremony at 6:30 in the evening. Music was furnished by Brian Willis and Perry Dillard on guitars. Selections included "Wedding Song," "Wedding Prayer," and the theme from "Romeo and Juliet."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a bouffant gown of white tulle mist designed with a fitted Chantilly lace bodice, featuring long bishop lace sleeves, a high standup collar.

The natural waistline formed a point in the front to accent the long, full skirt of white tulle mist created in an apron effect, with tiers of Chantilly lace ruffles cascading to the hemline.

She wore a lace headpiece to secure her full length mantilla veil, edged in matching lace, and she held a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids with leather lace greenery.

Mrs. Susan Wylie, matron of honor, wore a lilac crepe dress, formal length, mode with an Empire waist and enhanced with a white crepe collar and cuffs, edged in narrow lace.

The bridesmaids, Misses Connie Koesterer, Carol Corder and Mrs. Helen Reed, wore attired alike in rose, white and ecru lace trimmed the V-style neckline and the long sleeves.

Each attendant carried a nosegay of mixed purple and pink carnations, white daisies and baby breath.

Melissa Mills, the flower girl, was dressed in a pink polyester A-line frock, trimmed in white lace, and made with long sheer sleeves. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Mark Mills served as the ringbearer.

Attending the groom as best man was Benny Lofink. Tom Papp, Robert Reed and Cliff Rogers were groomsmen and Ron Ruebhausen, a brother-in-law of the groom, seated the guests.

Jackey Chapline and Lynn Carroll, sisters of the bride and groom, distributed rice packets to the guests after the ceremony.

A reception was held at the Long Lake Firemen's Hall following the service with Mary Kay Chapline and Judy Carroll, also sisters of the bride couple, presiding over the guest book. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Chapline chose a floor length pale pink polyester knit dress fashioned with a round neckline, Empire waist and long sheer sleeves.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Carroll, selected a long gown of rose and gold polyester knit with long sleeves. A chiffon ruffle marked the neckline and hem. Both mothers wore pink and white carnation corsages.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll, parents of the groom, entertained members of the wedding party at a rehearsal dinner given in their home on the evening preceding the ceremony.

The bride and groom are graduates of Granite City High School. Mr. Carroll is employed at U.S. Steel Corp. in St. Louis. After the wedding trip, the couple will reside in Granite City.

Out-of-town guests included the groom's grandfather, Al Kunkel of Highland; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Ruebhausen of Selma, Ala., a brother-in-law and sister of the groom, and friends and relatives from the Florissant and Ferguson, Mo., area.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT L. CARROLL, who exchanged wedding vows in an early evening ceremony at St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church. The bride is the former Miss Kitty Ann Chapline, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Chapline, 2428 E. 25th St. (Ollis Photo)

Pneumonia still a threat

By CATHERINE MAUCK
Madison County Home Economics Adviser

Our old enemy, pneumonia, is still very much with us in spite of significant medical advances in control and treatment of respiratory diseases. In fact, the illness and death toll from pneumonia is greater now than it was 10 years ago.

This year, almost 70,000 Americans will die from some form of pneumonia.

Most of the victims will be the very young, the chronically ill, or persons over 50 years of age. Medical authorities call these the high-risk groups.

An estimated 2.5 million other Americans will recover from this disease.

symptoms appear, see your physician.

For now, prevention of pneumonia is mostly up to the individual.

Ask your doctor about the advisability of flu shots.

Get plenty of rest, eat and drink sensibly, maintain a relative humidity of from 30 to 45 per cent in your home, stay away from people with colds or flu, and avoid crowded places when respiratory illnesses are rampant.

Hospital notes

Venice tops Mulberry to advance in tourney

The Venice Red Devils advanced to meet Staunton at 5 p.m. today in the championship quarterfinals of the Columbia cage holiday tournament by virtue of a 98-48 victory over Mulberry Grove yesterday.

Venice, seeking its sixth tourney title at Columbia, jumped to a commanding 24-8 first period lead over Mulberry and scored 30 points in the enemy's 12 in the second quarter for a 54-20 halftime lead.

Led by all-star Ron Henry, who tallied 22 points in the game, 16 in the first half, the Red Devils more than doubled their opponent's scoring in the next period, 29-10, to increase their lead by 54 points.

Mulberry rallied in the final quarter of play with 18 points, but failed to overcome the deficit as Venice racked up 16 more. Mulberry was led in scoring by the 16 points of Anthony Altchison.

Venice committed 10 fouls to the enemy's nine and made good three free throws in four attempts while recovering 47 rebounds.

Four other Red Devils scored in double figures: J. B. Harmon hit for 17, Tony Sifton 16, Reggie Gardner 16, and Mike Logan 16. Adding to the victory were: Ron Taylor with six points; Mike Henry two, Jim Crowder two and Bernie Woodrome two.

Logan was injured late in the game and was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital upon the teams return to Venice. He was treated for a deep cut over an eye and was released.

Staunton defeated Brooklyn 87-46 in the first game yesterday to also advance.

The Staunton Bulldogs rode to victory on the high scoring of Bill Marcuzzo and Mark Stein. The win gave them a 7-0 record.

In addition to the Venice triumph yesterday, Staunton toppled Lovejoy of Brooklyn 87-66. Freeburg crushed Sandval 85-53. Central (Aviston-Breese) romped past Red Bud 65-47. Freeburg noosed out Pacific 64-62 in overtime after a 54-54 deadlock in regulation time. Lebanon smashed Christopher 75-45 and Columbia defeated Waterloo Gibraltar 66-56. Valmeyer defeated New Athens 82-74.

2 Cougars on All-America second team

The 1973 All-America soccer team selected by the National Soccer Coaches' Association was announced today, with not a single player from nationally ranked No. 1 St. Louis University or from No. 2 rated Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on the first team.

Two players from the University of Missouri-St. Louis were picked on the first squad: goaltender Frank Tuszynski and back Kevin Missey.

UMSL closed out its season by winning the NCAA college division national championship, the title won by SIUE last year but not defended when the Cougars moved up to the Division I (major schools) competition for 1973.

St. Louis U., which will defend its national big school title Jan. 24 at Miami's Orange Bowl, managed only to land a pair of players on the honorable mention list: back Bob Mattem and forward Dan Counce.

Two players on the SIUE team, which lost in the midwest NCAA Division I regional final to St. Louis University, were picked on the second team: back Tom Galati and forward John Stremelau.

but failed to overcome the deficit as Venice racked up 16 more. Mulberry was led in scoring by the 16 points of Anthony Altchison.

Warriors hope to jell in Pontiac tournament

Hope springs eternal, and often with justification.

On its record of no victories in five tries so far this season, Granite City High School South could not be called a favorite in the annual Pontiac invitational basketball tournament opening today, even by its best friends.

But South's Warriors have had a tradition of igniting in their holiday competition, especially that at Pontiac, so anything is possible.

The Warrior quintet opens at 1 p.m. today against capable Waukegan.

By winning, South could advance to a clash at 10:30 a.m. Friday against Glenbard West or Bloomington.

Another victory would send the Granite Cityans against Arlington Heights Hersey, Aurora West, Cairo or Chicago Heights at 1 p.m. Saturday.

This would then set the stage for a South attempt at the championship third-place trophy at 4:30 p.m. Saturday or a try for the title tilt at 10 p.m. Saturday, the scheduling depending on whether GCHS South wins or loses in the semifinals Saturday afternoon.

In the event of a loss to Waukegan today, the consolation bracket looms, with Warrior games—assuming continuing victories—at 1 p.m. Friday, 9 a.m. Saturday and either 4 p.m. or 7 p.m. Saturday.

Major favorites in the event are Bloom High of Chicago Heights, Lockport, LaSalle-Peru and host Pontiac.

Hockey squad hopes for 2nd

The Granite City squad could advance to a second place tie with Assumption of East St. Louis Saturday in the McClair Ice Hockey Association standings, if the local team can defeat the East St. Louis visitors when they square off on the ice at Wilson Park at 1:10 a.m.

Granite City presently is in a third place deadlock with Wood River after a 7-4 loss this past weekend. Both teams have identical 3-3 records.

Bellevue, now 1-5, opens the weekend action tomorrow at 10:20 p.m. against the first place Alton team. That game will be followed by a Wood River and Collinsville clash at 11:45 p.m.

A victory by Wood River and a loss by Granite City would leave the local team all by itself in the number four spot. A loss by both teams would leave both tied for third.

51 will finish Swim-Y-Thon

Fifty-one area swimmers were to plunge into the pool starting at the Tri-City Area YMCA at noon today to begin the second leg of the voluntary Swim-Y-Thon being held to help raise finances for the local "Y" and YMCA World Services.

The first half of the six day event, interrupted by the Christmas holidays, netted $517 in sponsor fees for eight participants.

A sponsor is one who agrees to pay a specified amount for every length a swimmer completes within 15 minutes. One length in the local "Y's" pool represents 20 yards.

Four 15-minute sprints are on tap today, tomorrow three hours of swimming from 4 o'clock to 7 p.m. are set and Saturday participants will swim from 10 a.m. to noon, the final day of this year's program.

Persons wishing to participate in the remainder of the fund raising program may do so by calling 876-7200.

Springfield bureau — Legislation by summity transfers responsibilities of elected representatives to those not elected as lawmakers of state

THE ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE has completed after seven weeks what probably will go down in history as the "Summit Session."

This is because the big decisions on legislation were made, not in the chambers of the House and Senate, but in closed door gatherings at Springfield and in Chicago involving the legislative leaders of both parties and Gov. Daniel Walker.

This legislation by summity could establish a precedent in Illinois lawmaking, and not for the best. In the past, there have been conferences between legislative leaders and various governors on proposed legislation. But generally this was on legislation initiated and acted on in the legislature itself.

It would not be in the best interest of the people of Illinois if their elected representatives were to continue to transfer their responsibilities to others.

Enactment of the complex Chicago area Regional Transit Authority (RTA) legislation introduced some other potentially troublesome precedents. The most significant is the diversion of some $80 million from the state's general revenue fund to meet the needs of a specific region of the state. This could encourage future raids of the state Treasury.

As much as Downstate wants and needs improved highways, it is nevertheless disturbing that this vital issue had to be tied in with mass transportation in the Chicago metropolitan area. Both issues are of such importance and so different in nature as to deserve separate consideration on their own merits.

The legislature saw fit to enter Illinois into the lottery field. The year ahead should provide a good test as to whether this is in fact a logical way to increase state revenue. The results will be followed with interest.

After much early fanfare the legislature did nothing about tax relief or ethics. The two major tax relief proposals were so meaningless and so politically inspired that they merited an earlier burial. Still lacking is an effective, constructive ethics bill that will protect the public's interest, but still not deter many able and successful persons from seeking public office. A new try should be made at the 1974 session.

Once again the session took too long. Too much time was wasted and the frustration of many devoted legislators was understandable. Legislation by summity leaves a lot of lawmakers standing around with nothing to do but await orders from above.

We hope that when the lawmakers return next year they will call a halt to any further summity and show renewed determination to do the job their constituents expect them to do.

Court ruling allowing election 'raiding' creates headache for Illinois

THE U.S. Supreme Court has created another headache for Illinois.

It has seen fit to strike down an Illinois law that prevented voters from switching parties within a 23-month period. In a practical sense, the ruling means that a person who voted in a Republican primary in one election could vote a Democratic primary in the next, or vice versa.

The Illinois law was designed to prevent any organized effort by one party to flood the primary of the other and thereby nominate what might be considered a weaker candidate.

Illinois being one of the strongest two-party states in the Union and with political organization marked by a high level of discipline especially as concerns the Chicago Democratic organization, the ban against switching was considered a necessary tool to prevent "raiding."

Because of a ruling a lower-level three-judge federal panel which held the law unconstitutional, it was not in effect during the 1972 primary, and its absence was credited by many professional politicians with triggering a substantial cross-over of non-party Republican voters into the Democratic primary, thereby resulting in the upset victory of Daniel Walker over then Lt. Gov. Paul Simon.

The Republicans had no statewide primary contests of consequence in 1972. Simon lost to Walker by 61,250 votes and it is quite conceivable that had the ban on cross-overs been lifted the result would have been reversed.

The Supreme Court in its ruling stressed the theoretical over the practical, the majority finding that the Illinois law infringes on "the freedom to associate with others for the common advancement of political beliefs and ideas."

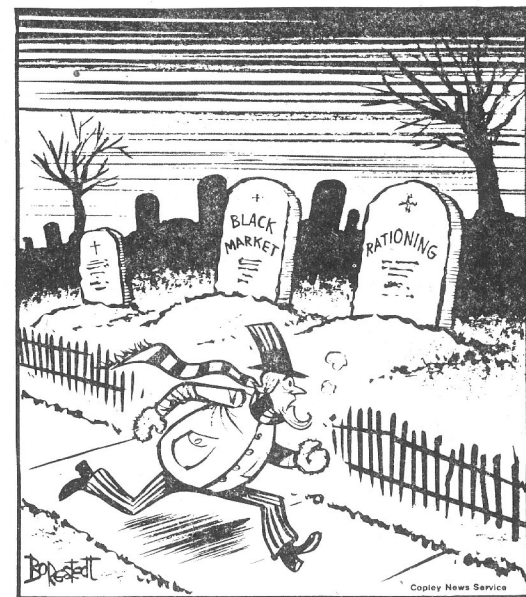

It added that another major effect was to "lock in the voter into his existing party affiliation for a substantial period of time following participation in any primary election."

In view of one of two dissenting justices, Harry A. Blackmun, made more sense from a practical standpoint when he commented that the court's decision failed to give states "the elbowroom they deserve," especially Illinois "where party regimentation on an extensive scale is legendary."

The high court as a whole suggested that Illinois consider enacting a law similar to that existing in New York, which requires a voter to register his party affiliation 11 months before a primary.

Whether such a law would meet Illinois' own needs is a matter for conjecture. But this and other legislation that could prevent future cross-overs should receive early consideration by the legislature.

An effective two-party system is vital to good government in this state so sensitively balanced politically.

'And may they rest in peace!'

Board to check truck decisions

By RAND T. THOMAS

SPRINGFIELD — What many believe was a key source of funding for the late Secretary of State Paul Powell's shady shoe box treasury, now is under strict regulation by current Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett.

Howlett announced the appointment of three attorneys who will sit on a newly established review board designed to give final approval to decisions against trucking firms cited for skirting state taxes.

Illegal obtaining of those taxes, according to unconfirmed reports, may have comprised a major portion of the shoe box funds discovered in Powell's room at the St. Nicholas Hotel here shortly after his death in 1970.

The three attorneys are Joseph B. King, Western Springs; Francis X. Riley, Chicago; and Wendell Seibert, administrative assistant to Howlett. The review board will certify private hearings which involve out-of-state trucks charged with using state roads without the proper authorization.

Establishment of the review board is just one of many steps Howlett has taken to beef up tax collections from truckers. Since he took office last January, Howlett has increased the number of special investigators to more than 200. All agents are required to take extensive courses which outline the many "dirty tricks" truckers often use to avoid the stiff taxes.

And so far, the secretary's tactics appear to have paid off. The last year of the Powell administration, agents collected some $500,000 in neglected tax moneys. But this year alone through October, investigators have stopped more than 500 vehicles and collected $2,579,140.

Truck taxes are levied on a complicated formula based on the size and weight of the vehicle and the state of registration. For instance, a five axle rig, operated in Illinois which tips the scales at 73,280 pounds must pay $1,492 annually for license plates.

That allows the vehicle to do business in Illinois. But once across the state line the tax scene changes a bit.

Most eastern states grant what is termed reciprocity which allows out-of-state trucks to travel foreign highways for a minor $3 fee. The same goes for trucks registered in eastern states which travel the roads of Illinois.

But most western states charge truckers a tax based on a percentage of their home registration fee scaled according to number of miles they travel in the state. This is called pro-rating and Illinois levies similar taxes on out-of-state western trucks which travel here.

A spokesman for Howlett's office said it is no secret that truckers use a number of different tricks to avoid payment of taxes. Such schemes involve the use of walkie-talkies to inform traveling colleagues of upcoming highway checkpoints and the use of back roads rather than well-patrolled interstate highways.

Such artful dodging causes all kinds of headaches for Illinois investigators who are often forced to work all hours of the night and day and frequently change their checkpoints.

It caught without the appropriate pro-rating deal, a truck driver must either pay out of his pocket, or wire his company for the tax money before he can proceed.

Truckers who are eligible but do not display reciprocity plates are given several warnings before the issuance of a traffic ticket which may lead to a stiff fine.

The review board will give final approval to the hearing officer's decision on tax cases which are appealed. This according to the spokesman, who's worked in the secretary of state's investigation division for 10 years, will hopefully eliminate "hanky-panky." He did not elaborate on that statement.

Drunk driver problem in state

CHICAGO — The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration report 385 persons are killed each week on the nation's highways as a result of drinking and driving.

Thirty-five Alcohol Safety Action Projects have been established throughout the country to get the problem drunk-driver off the road. Sister Patricia Kilbane, O.P., a consultant of the Alcohol Safety Education Program (ASEP) and Central States Institute of Addiction (CSI) in Chicago, outlined the purposes of ASEP and CSI recently and provided some alarming statistics on the increase in accidents caused by drunken drivers.

1) 1,200 people are arrested each month in Illinois for drunk driving.

2) 27,400 deaths occurred in 1971 — the result of accidents involving drunk drivers.

3) In 1970 arrests for driving while intoxicated (DWI) numbered 555,700. For the next year arrests rose to 644,100, a 15.6 per cent increase.

4) In Illinois the first three months of 1973 there were 4,374 arrests for DWI.

5) One out of 50 drivers drives while under the influence of alcohol.

Citizens have a serious traffic problem. The plan that ASEP and CSI use is a rehabilitative and educational program for DWI offenders. Sister Kilbane said there are three categories of drunk drivers. The first is the habitual social drinker. This person will overindulge on special occasions. If arrest should occur the humiliation is usually all that is needed to deter further arrests.

The second category of drunk driver is the problem social drinker. For this person alcohol is a regular part of the daily life.

The third category is the compulsive, pathological drinker. Alcohol is very much a part of this person's day and the person feels unable to function without a drink.

Sister Kilbane says the person they try to help is the person in the second category — the problem social drinker. She said it is normal for such a person to take from 10 to 15 years to become addicted to alcohol. After the first five years it becomes a family problem; but the drinker is not yet at "that moment of truth" where he or she realizes that he has a serious drinking problem.

Sister Kilbane says alcoholism is a disease and it is not to be treated. "If you had gall bladder trouble you would certainly have it treated," alcoholism is a disease.

"She added, 'If you're going to have a disease — alcoholism is a good one to have — it has a cure.'"

ASEP's objectives are to provide an alternative to jail, treatment, or court. Sister Kilbane says, "Putting them in jail never helped anybody; not them, not the taxpayers, and not the innocent driver that has to share the road with them when they are released again."

ASEP's goals are to 1) reduce recidivism, (recurrence), 2) reeducate offenders, 3) provide resources for law enforcement and 4) block the registration of federal employees, a resource library and safety education.

In both the Institute and ASEP, the driver's behavior is examined. He or she is shown how alcohol changes human behavior. Sister Kilbane says there is a relationship between constant tension and alcohol addiction.

Sister Kilbane says the symptoms and phases of alcohol addiction are obvious if one is willing to recognize them. She said, "Alcoholism is a one-way street of addiction. We try to raise the level of tolerance, but the person takes a drink to forget his problems, the alcoholic creates his problems when he takes a drink to forget his problems. Only the person himself can say what his situation is."

When President Nixon on Oct. 20, Cox was pressing his demand for the Watergate tape recordings in court. There were additional suggestions that President Nixon wanted Cox out because the prosecutor was sniffing around for more than the nine specific strips of tape.

The White House thought Jawsorski, appointed by acting Atty. Gen. Robert Bork, would be less aggressive, it appeared to have made a major miscalculation.

When Jawsorski moved into Cox's office, he found the highly motivated staff totally dispirited and on the brink of handing in their resignations. But within one week, the staff was from the ninth-floor suite of heavily guarded offices was that Jawsorski was the kind of man. No one quit and the investigations and prosecutions have been moving forward with vigor.

Nothing has been dropped from our agenda," Jawsorski told a skeptical Senate Judiciary Committee, and he even hinted that the probe might be widened and deepened.

As if to prove he means business, Jawsorski recently said he was considering asking Mr. Nixon to make available all tape recordings made in the Oval Office during the three years that the secret system was operating.

Since then, the White House has accused Jawsorski's inherited staff — but not Jawsorski — of leaking investigation material to the press. And then presidential Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler charged that Jawsorski's staff — but not Jawsorski — has an "unfounded suspicion of visceral dislike" for the President.

Jawsorski spent his second day on the job conferring with the leaders of his various investigative task forces. At the end of the day, Jawsorski, according to an aide, remarked to a personal friend:

"I'm impressed by two things: the professionalism of the staff and the evidence."

It is difficult to determine exactly how Jawsorski was selected. Jawsorski has told friends he was called initially by Bork but by Alexander Haig, chief of the White House staff and a confidante of the President. Adding to the speculation that Mr. Nixon was involved in his selection, Jawsorski is a close friend of none other than the former Texas Democratic governor turned Republican, a Nixon-appointed Treasury secretary and one of the closest advisers to the President.

Regardless of who made the decision to urge Jawsorski to leave his lucrative Houston law firm to succeed Cox, Jawsorski reportedly is deeply engrossed in carrying on his work with equal determination.

Arch gives boost to area tourism

By JOHN PINKERMAN

ST. LOUIS — They call it "Surprising St. Louis" these days and the people who are trying to make this mid-America metropolis into a tourist haven are having more success than they dreamed of.

There still are slums and they are readily apparent as you drive from the airport into the inner city. There still is a shortage of first-rate hotels but there isn't a hotel in the nation that can top Stouffer's Riverfront Inn. It still gets hot in the summer, miserably cold and damp in the winter and the Mississippi River reaches beyond the riverfront road in the spring.

However, just "up the hill" from where the river creeps is the famous Gateway Arch and the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial.

The whole complex makes up a national historic site administered by the National Park Service — and this endeavor that combined city and federal funds has done wonders for tourism in St. Louis. A visit to the area is a stirring lesson in early American history and the genius of 20th Century man in construction of the arch.

Within walking distance of the arch is the Old Courthouse, finished in 1865, and the place where the first Supreme Court decision was rendered. There is a note that the great Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis was admitted to the bar here in 1878, and there are records of many civil suits revolving around the fur trade in this area that was called New France.

There are all kinds of reminders and evidences of the settlement of this great river town back in 1763 — established as a station on the river trading route to New Orleans. And, there is modern evidence adjacent to the historical park — the 30-story Busch Stadium, where the St. Louis Cardinals (both the baseball and football versions) vie mightily for pennants.

St. Louis also is alive with industry — the home "port" of Budweiser beer, Tums, Pet milk and products, Furbina, Ralston and many others. The restaurants offer the food of many nations, and the revolving restaurant atop Stouffer's is an experience in fine dining and great viewing; the even chiller is the hotel up there. More hotels are a building downtown to accommodate conventions expected at the new center.

If you are a sports fan, particularly one of a few years back, you will enjoy a visit to the Busch Stadium Hall of Fame — see the gloves, the balls and other items to jog your memory of the famed Cardinals of years back.

It is the Gateway Arch, however, that set tourism on the road to success here. It symbolizes the Gateway to the West of long ago and its great stainless steel arch concept was a challenging project. It cost, including adjacent project work, $36 million and offers a view of 38 miles on a clear day.

Jaworski keeps up Watergate pressure

By BENJAMIN SHORE

WASHINGTON — Back in 1972, a 26-year-old lawyer named Leon Jaworski was named to a rural Texas Baptist minister, made his courtroom debut by winning the acquittal of a West Coast moonshiner whose trial took place in a Prohibition-tour, heavily Baptist county.

Jaworski, as an Army colonel, prosecuted major Nazi war criminals in the famous trials of Nuremberg after World War II, trials whose outcome established moral precedents for government, leaders and their lieutenants.

In 1962, Jaworski was appointed temporarily by Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy to prosecute Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett who was charged with contempt to block the registration of a black student at the University of Mississippi.

Today, Jaworski once again has been pressed into specialized government service that could have significant impact on the form and function of American government. Since Nov. 5, this 63-year-old Texas Democrat has been directing the special Watergate prosecution that was created by Archibald Cox.

When Cox was fired by President Nixon on Oct. 20, Cox was pressing his demand for the Watergate tape recordings in court. There were additional suggestions that President Nixon wanted Cox out because the prosecutor was sniffing around for more than the nine specific strips of tape.

The White House thought Jawsorski, appointed by acting Atty. Gen. Robert Bork, would be less aggressive, it appeared to have made a major miscalculation.

When Jawsorski moved into Cox's office, he found the highly motivated staff totally dispirited and on the brink of handing in their resignations. But within one week, the staff was from the ninth-floor suite of heavily guarded offices was that Jawsorski was the kind of man. No one quit and the investigations and prosecutions have been moving forward with vigor.

Nothing has been dropped from our agenda," Jawsorski told a skeptical Senate Judiciary Committee, and he even hinted that the probe might be widened and deepened.

As if to prove he means business, Jawsorski recently said he was considering asking Mr. Nixon to make available all tape recordings made in the Oval Office during the three years that the secret system was operating.

Since then, the White House has accused Jawsorski's inherited staff — but not Jawsorski — of leaking investigation material to the press. And then presidential Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler charged that Jawsorski's staff — but not Jawsorski — has an "unfounded suspicion of visceral dislike" for the President.

Jawsorski spent his second day on the job conferring with the leaders of his various investigative task forces. At the end of the day, Jawsorski, according to an aide, remarked to a personal friend:

"I'm impressed by two things: the professionalism of the staff and the evidence."

It is difficult to determine exactly how Jawsorski was selected. Jawsorski has told friends he was called initially by Bork but by Alexander Haig, chief of the White House staff and a confidante of the President. Adding to the speculation that Mr. Nixon was involved in his selection, Jawsorski is a close friend of none other than the former Texas Democratic governor turned Republican, a Nixon-appointed Treasury secretary and one of the closest advisers to the President.

Regardless of who made the decision to urge Jawsorski to leave his lucrative Houston law firm to succeed Cox, Jawsorski reportedly is deeply engrossed in carrying on his work with equal determination.

Courthouse pickets withdrawn

Madison County employees returned to their jobs at 10 a.m. today after a sheriff's deputies' informational picket line was withdrawn from the county courthouse at Edwardsville.

Negotiations between the county and the 72 sheriff's deputies and jailers broke down about 4 p.m. yesterday and the informational picket line was established as the courthouse was closing.

A spokesman for the sheriff's department said the picket line was comprised of only off-duty deputies and all deputies were reporting for duty at their assigned times.

Members of Local 799 of the Steel County and Municipal Employees Union, representing 205 county clerks and other employees, held meetings at an Edwardsville cafe, a drug store and a tavern this morning, and voted to honor the picket line set up by the deputies.

Nelson Hagauer, chairman of the county board, the county judges and attorneys for the county met this morning before consulting deputies on the picket lines. Agreements reached there were not disclosed, but the lines were broken up at 9:45 a.m. and courthouse employees returned to their jobs 15 minutes later.

Both the sheriff's deputies and the courthouse employees have rejected a 6 percent wage increase offered by the county.

Local 529 representatives are to meet tomorrow with the county finance committee and negotiations are expected to resume with sheriff's deputies this week.

J. J. Granlich, chairman of the finance committee went to the courthouse at 9:45 a.m. today to study the situation there, it was reported.

JOHN TARPOIFF

John Tarpoiff dies at 88

John Tarpoiff, 88, of 2621 Madison Ave., who founded the Tarpoiff Meat Packing Co. 45 years ago, died at 1:10 a.m. today at the Colonades Nursing Home where he had been a patient three months.

A native of Gabresh, Macedonia, he came to Granite City 61 years ago.

Mr. Tarpoiff was a charter member and one of the residents who founded Holy Trinity Bulgarian Orthodox Church. During the convention of the church held in Indianapolis, Ind. in September, Mr. Tarpoiff was presented with the highest award ever given to a layman of the church.

His wife, Mrs. Paraskeva Tarpoiff, died Nov. 20, 1972.

Survivors include three sons, John, Alexander and Vasil Tarpoiff, all of Granite City, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

3 new sewer breaks

Three new sewer breaks were discovered in Granite City yesterday and today, bringing the number of breaks since spring flooding here to 21.

The city already has spent more than $1 million repairing 19 breaks and the new ones will substantially increase that figure.

The two breaks discovered yesterday and one this morning bring the number of breaks this week to five. Breaks on Stearns Avenue and Colgate Place were reported Monday.

Yesterday a break was discovered between 2838 and 2840 Palmer Ave., and a second was found on Amos Avenue just behind the Nameoki Fire Station, about 50 feet west of the scene of a former break on which the repairs were to be completed this week.

At the Amos Avenue break, a Frue Ernest Co. truck began sinking into the hole but could not be completed this week.

The Ernest firm is under contract to repair the sewer breaks.

This morning, Lionel Portell, street superintendent, reported yet another break in the 2800 block of Palmer, this one between East 25th Street and Palmer in a field where a 10-inch line collapsed.

Portell said he also is watching an area near the Granite City Board of Education office at 20th and Adams streets where a depression over a sewer has been noted. He said the depression may be only an excavation settling, but it could be a new break.

News notes

"We're trying to work out something so there will be no rationing" of gasoline, President Richard M. Nixon said Wednesday.

Among the groups visiting St. Elizabeth Hospital to spread Christmas cheer was Cub Park Three, which took Yule stockings to children in the hospital.

Crowds of several hundred each day patronized the Pere Marquette State Park ski area during the weekend.

Arab nations raised crude oil prices by 128 per cent Monday and then acted Wednesday to increase oil shipments from 75 per cent to a new level of 85 per cent of the volume prior to this fall's politically-related cutbacks. A ban on shipments to the U.S. and the Netherlands remains in effect.

Cong. Melvin Price and Cong. Kenneth Gray said jointly yesterday they are asking the Nixon administration to seek Congressional authority to build a new federal court building for East St. Louis.

Harold Lee, 74, president of the Mormon church, died last night at a Salt Lake City, Utah, hospital of heart and lung failure. He had been the head of the church for 18 months.

Those with questions about the U.S. mandatory fuel allocation program may call a special "hot line" number in Springfield, 217-255-2444. State Sen. Sam M. Vadalabene reports. The state is responsible, under federal guidelines, for implementing the national government's allocation program.

More St. Louis police will begin riding Bi-State buses to help deter robbery-motivated hijackings, it was announced Wednesday.

Less than an inch of snow greeted Quad-Cityans this morning after predictions yesterday afternoon of possibly as much as three inches. There are still some remnants of the Dec. 19 snowfall, which exceeded 12 inches in the northern part of the metropolitan area and 13 inches in the southern section.

A numbered and lettered grid system is being used by Granite City Steel to aid employees in arranging car pools with fellow workers, primarily in the Quad-Cities, Collinsville and Edwardsville, three communities in which 70 per cent of the 5,000 employees reside.

Cong. Melvin Price of this district has cited O.P. Union gasoline prices in a statement in the Congressional Record.

Snow removal cost—$16,000

Estimates made this week show that snow removal in this area from last week's 15-inch snowstorm cost taxpayers about $16,000.

Granite City estimated the cost of removal was about $10,000 with 250 hours of employee overtime, the cost of about 100 tons of salt and 350 tons of cinders and the rental of equipment to cope with the snow.

Much snow spread between 50 and 60 tons of salt costing $300. No overtime was required as the men who worked nights will be compensated by time off.

Other steps that could be taken to reduce fuel consumption in your total fuel consumption this winter.

Other steps you could take now to reduce fuel needs are: (1) caulk or weather-strip around windows and door frames; (2) close the fireplace damper when your fireplace is not in use; and (3) tightly close off all spare rooms that are not in use.

The thermostat setting should still be lowered if you're genuinely interested in maximum saving of fuel. It has been estimated that each degree (F) lower your room thermostat setting, you will save 2 to 3 per cent of fuel. By turning your night time setting down 10 degrees below the normal point, you could save as much as 7 per cent on fuel.

It will be apparent to most that if all these steps were taken the home owner would save a substantial chunk of money as well as conserve energy.

The energy crisis is having a variety of effects on property values and the real estate market. For example, many large apartment and condominium developments have sharply reduced their usage of outside lights at night.

This effectively conserves energy and saves money for the owners, but worries many security-conscious residents. This concern is stimulating a rash of burglar alarm systems and other security devices.

Even land values are affected. The gasoline shortage has boosted values of land parcels ripe for development in "cold in" areas, and is reducing the rate of value appreciation of "far out" parcels. Land suitable for recreational uses are particularly affected.

The energy crisis will probably be with us for quite a while. Real estate, like everything else, will just have to adjust.

You can cut your fuel needs

The impact of the energy crisis is striking close to home. In fact, it's affecting our way of life inside our homes.

The most obvious effect can be measured in goose-bumps and shivers. The temperature is being maintained at record low levels in an increasing number of households.

In the interests of saving fuel, of course.

Much fuel is indeed saved by lower temperatures. However, there are other steps that could be even more effective in the fuel conservation documenting inflation of fuel costs. He said that in O'Fallon regular gasoline is selling for 49.9 cents a gallon and the premium gasoline costs between 51.9 and 55 cents. He urged that the federal government make sure that citizens are "protected" against exploitation by the energy crisis.

Half the emergency calls received by state police from call boxes on Interstates 270, 55 and 70 in this area are "false alarms," a spokesman said this week. Many ambulance calls also are false or unnecessary, but only 10 to 20 per cent of calls for vehicle assistance are proving to be false, the Illinois Transportation Department reported.

Interest on investments of county funds through the office of the Madison county treasurer produced a record $724,000 in the year ended Nov. 30, a report by County Auditor John L. Kravak showed this week. The total is sharply higher than the $262,000 earned a year ago. The gain was attributed to higher interest rates, changes in Illinois laws and to efforts by Treasurer George Musso to "stay on top of the money market," including use of federal treasury bills.

Interest on investments of county funds through the office of the Madison county treasurer produced a record $724,000 in the year ended Nov. 30, a report by County Auditor John L. Kravak showed this week. The total is sharply higher than the $262,000 earned a year ago. The gain was attributed to higher interest rates, changes in Illinois laws and to efforts by Treasurer George Musso to "stay on top of the money market," including use of federal treasury bills.

Plant closings due to fuel shortages

At least 83 Illinois plants have had to curtail production as a result of energy-related shortages, the Illinois Manufacturers' Association said during the weekend. Another eight plants have had to shut down as a result of energy-related cutbacks, according to survey responses from 473 member firms.

The Association, in releasing results of a survey of its 5,300 members ending with Dec. 13, said the production curtailments and plant shutdowns involved over 12,000 employees. An additional 12 plants employing 1,900 workers face curtailment beginning Jan. 1.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

President Orville V. Bergren said, "Results of our survey provide support for the new federal fuel allocation program, which gives industry—and jobs—a high priority."

"A 10 per cent fuel cut to industry can probably be absorbed without substantial layoffs. Any curtailment on fuel to industry beyond 10 per cent should be avoided to prevent unemployment."

The survey indicates shortage of fuel for space heating or process is not common as yet. However, shortages of petroleum-based materials or energy-dependent commodities—including plastics, solvents, pigments, packaging, resins, copper and steel—from suppliers have forced many Illinois companies to cut production, delay expansion and schedule layoffs.

Comments from Association manufacturers indicate shortages are caused by several economic fundamentals: scarcity of energy, U.S. price controls which make exports more profitable and increase shortages at home, and strong worldwide demand in many product lines.

Bergren noted that the coldest days of winter may lie ahead.

"In the period Oct. 1, 1972, through Jan. 15, 1973, at least ten Illinois plants shut down and 37 curtailed production because of energy-related shortages. The situation certainly has not improved since last winter."

Medical technician program scheduled

An emergency medical technician training program for fire, police, hospital and ambulance workers is scheduled by the St. Elizabeth Hospital Trauma Center to open Feb. 7.

The program also will be open to interested groups, but those with health care jobs will have priority in registration.

The training is given at the hospital through the Belleville Area College and is funded by the state Department of Transportation through auspices of the Illinois Department of Public Health and the Bureau of Emergency Medical Services.

Training will be given on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. The new program tentatively is scheduled to end May 2. Applications for pre-testing are now being received at the hospital by calling 896-2020 and asking for the trauma coordinator.

The basic training program represents the first phase of training in the Emergency Medical Technician career structure. The course covers emergency care procedures, short of those rendered by physicians or by allied medical personnel under direct supervision of a physician. The course emphasizes the development of student skills in recognition of symptoms of illnesses and injuries and proper procedures of emergency care. Review is placed heavily on demonstration and practice as a teaching method.

The course consists of 25 lessons and 10 hours of in-hospital training requiring a total of 35 hours. The first lesson is devoted to an overview of the Emergency Medical Technician's job, a description of the course and an overview of anatomy and physiology.

It is followed by lessons on life-threatening emergencies, childbirth, problems of child patients, lifting and moving patients, environmental emergencies, extrication from automobiles and operational aspects of the emergency medical technician's job and responsibilities.

Each lesson provides for application of skills taught in the lesson. Certain critical skills will be practiced repeatedly to ensure proficiency. Cardiorespiratory resuscitation is practiced and evaluated in six different lessons of the course. In-hospital training and observation is recommended in areas such as the emergency room and trauma unit.

Fee set for titles

Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state, has announced that effective Jan. 1 a $3 charge will be made on all titles issued by his office, including duplicate and corrected titles.

The new uniform fee is the result of legislation approved by the General Assembly and signed into law by the Governor Sept. 14.

Howlett first told of the revised fee plan he recommended to the General Assembly in a speech last May to the Chicago Chapter, Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel.

Other provisions of the bill include elimination of a fee for junking certificates, a decrease in the fee for mobile home titles and display certificates of title from $5 to $3, creation of a salvage certificate with a $3 fee, and an increased fee for prorated backing plates from $10 to $2. Howlett said all fees received from salvage certificates and the $1 increase in title fees will be deposited in a special vehicle recycling fund established by the General Assembly.

All money deposited into the fund will be used to help finance efforts of a newly approved Vehicle Recycling Board which named Secretary Howlett chairman.

Howlett said titles must be surrendered and salvage certificates issued for any vehicle sold or disposed of as wreckage or salvage when ownership has been transferred to an insurance company through payment of damages or a total loss claim.

Insurance companies may assign a salvage certificate only once, and only to a person or persons licensed as a dealer.

Blood donor drive opens

A three-day Red Cross blood donor program sponsored by Church Women United opened today with a mobile unit at St. Elizabeth Church, 2100 Pontoon Road. The program will continue through tomorrow.

The need for blood is even more critical at this time because extreme weather conditions have made it necessary to cancel five mobile visits in the Bi-State area.

According to Mrs. Stephen Gargac, chairman, Archie Williams, administrator of the Missouri-Illinois Regional Red Cross program, is quoted as saying, "Great emphasis is being placed on the Granite City Blood Mobile visits, with the need so much greater due to the cancellations."

Mrs. Gargac said this is the first time 17-year-olds, with parental permission, will be allowed to give blood. She also reminded donors that they may receive individual coverage insurance for parents, grandparents and grandparents-in-law, as well as themselves by the donation of a single pint of blood, per family. The hours for donating blood will be 2:00 p.m. to 6:45 p.m.

Further information may be obtained by calling 877-3156.

Visiting highlighted New Year's in Illinois century ago

Illinois greeted the New Year in 1874 in balmy spring-like weather with some New Year's customs that have since gone out of fashion, according to a sampling of the 110 newspapers for the period now in the collections of the Illinois State Historical Library.

Typical of comments on the weather, the Chicago Evening Journal said that New Year's day in Evanston "was more like a spring day than mid-winter."

The Rock Island Daily Union of Jan. 3 reported that "the new year was ushered in with plenty of sunshine and an atmosphere almost as balmy as spring."

That "spring" did not last long, however, and the Peoria Daily Transcript of Jan. 9 carried a brief story headed "The Ice Prospect." In those days before electric and gas refrigerators, ice was an important commercial product. The Transcript story said that ice on the Illinois River and the lakes and sloughs in the LaSalle area was about nine inches deep and that "all preparations are complete for commencing the harvest."

"The quantity of ice ordinarily harvested in a season in LaSalle and Peru is about 150,000 tons, nearly all of which is shipped to southern markets in the spring. There is little prospect of half that quantity being harvested this winter... ice men everywhere are beginning to look blue."

A New Year's Day custom of a century ago was to go calling on friends and acquaintances. Those ladies who themselves were "calling" would hang on their front doors "baskets gaily decorated with ribbons for the reception of cards."

But the custom may even then have been fading, as the Chicago Journal noted in its Evanston report: "There was not as much 'calling' as formerly, and yet many did their duty faithfully in this respect."

The Illinois State Journal of Springfield on Jan. 1 said, however, that: "Mrs. Gov. Beveridge, assisted by her daughters—Mrs. Raymond and Mrs. Philo J. Beveridge—will receive callers at the Executive Mansion."

The Chicago Journal, reporting on another Illinoisian, noted that "the President and Mrs. Grant held their usual New Year's reception yesterday. Among their distinguished visitors was a band of veterans of the War of 1812."

Another New Year's custom of a century ago was the presentation of group gifts—usually given to the boss by his employees, but other associations also shared the practice. The most common present was a gold watch and chain.

The Peoria Transcript reported that the employees of J. H. Belcher, "dealer in marble, on Madison street," made such a presentation "as a slight token of their esteem and respect for him as a friend and honorable businessman."

In the years after the watch and chain had been presented, something different had to be provided and the results were a great variety of gifts.

The Chicago Journal reported that the city's assistant postmaster received "a most elegant set of harness, a bear skin robe, a lap robe and a gold mounted whip."

Another note was that "Dr. John D. M. Carr was made the recipient of a beautifully mounted male skeleton, the gift of several professional friends."

And Chief Benner of the Fire Insurance Patrol received "a very handsome painting on glass, being an elaborately gotten-up monogram of the letters 'F.I.P.' It is very unique in design and represents the highest artistic skill. The chief takes great pleasure in contemplating its merits between alarms."

Also, "E. G. Mayo, a popular clerk of the Sherman House, was agreeably surprised on New Year's evening by a gift in shape of a check for $100, presented to him by the board members of the hotel."

County has record investment return

A record income of $724,000 through investment of county funds in interest-bearing accounts was reported by Madison county during the 1973 year, county finance officials reported this week.

By comparison, less than half that amount, or $322,000, was earned on county investments during 1972, according to John Kraynak, county auditor.

Kraynak attributed the large interest earnings to efforts of County Treasurer George Musso in "keeping on top of the money market." The interest earned in the investment program was more than twice the amount necessary to run the treasurer's office during the year, Kraynak noted.

The larger amount of interest earnings was due to higher interest rates and changes in Illinois laws. Substantial county funds are invested in federal treasury notes which in the past returned interest rates of 4 or 5 percent. During this year rates rose as high as 9 percent.

A state law permitting the county to receive all of its allocation of state motor fuel taxes at one time also permitted greater investments by placing MPT money not yet committed to road projects on deposit.

Page, Dixon cite Downstate balance

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Harry Page is making what might be termed a "balanced" campaign for the Republican nomination for state treasurer.

The Springfield school administrator hopes to convince a majority of Republican primary voters that the party's best chance for victory in the 1974 election is to place before all voters next November a ticket geographically balanced between Chicago-Cook County and Downstate.

In making this pitch, Page is clearly divorcing his own primary effort from that of fellow Sangamon County Republican and personal friend, John L. Kirby, who is trying for the GOP nomination for U. S. senator.

In doing so, Page is also tacitly accepting a premise of most Republican state leaders and Statehouse strategists that Kirby has little chance of beating out Chicago area lawyer George M. Burditt, who lives in La Grange.

It's nothing personal; just politics.

What page is pointing out to GOP grassroots workers, especially those Downstate, is that the other candidate for the nomination for treasurer, Jeannette H. Mullen of Barrington, is also from the Chicago area.

Such a combination of Burditt and Jeannette Mullen, Page claims, would be at a geographical disadvantage in opposing the Democratic slate of U. S. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson of Chicago and State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon of Belleville, a near-perfect pairing as far as statewide balance is concerned.

Page further buttresses his contention by pointing out that virtually all persons currently holding statewide office are from the Chicago area.

There are Stevenson, of course, and Republican Sen. Charles H. Percy, who lives in Wilmette.

Gov. Daniel Walker is from Deerfield, and Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett and Lt. Gov. Neil F. Hartigan, are both Chicagoans.

Comptroller George W. Lindberg lives in Crystal Lake. State School Supt. Michael J. Bakalis is a DeKalb resident.

Although Attorney General William J. Scott now lists his official residence as Springfield, he has a Chicago background and is politically identified with the metropolis.

With the exception of Dixon, Supreme Court Clerk Justin Taft is the only state officerholder from the Central or Southern part of the state, and his office is no longer an elective one.

It is an issue for debate among present day politicians as to whether voters any longer pay much attention to where a candidate lives.

But Page thinks this is still an important factor, especially when it is recognized that one area has a preponderance.

He contends that unless there is some strong Downstate representation on the 1974 ticket, many party workers from that area are going to "sit on their hands" and let the Democrats win by default.

The March primary may determine whether Harry Page has a selling point.

Cold weather and snow bring hazards to farms

By WARREN W. BUNDY
Madison County
Agricultural Adviser

Cold weather and deep snow bring hazards to city and farm residents alike, including accidents, fires, and over-exertion from shoveling snow.

Farmers, especially livestock producers, have the problems of caring for livestock as well as family needs.

Farmers have to deal with frozen pipes, costly water damage, malfunction of sensitive equipment controls, and impaired fire protection if fuel isn't available to keep building temperatures above 32 degrees or if heating equipment fails.

Be careful if you use temporary heating equipment to help conserve fuel. All temporary heaters, except electric heaters, use oxygen and can be lethal if used in a confined space. Do not leave fuel oil or other flame-type space heaters unattended, particularly where they may be tipped over. Make certain that the heater has an automatic shutoff which activates when the unit is tipped over.

Do not try to thaw frozen pipes with a blow torch or open flame of any kind. To be safe, either wrap the pipe in cloth and pour on hot water or wrap it with an approved electrical heating cable.

Have heating systems checked and adjusted to be sure they are functioning as efficiently as possible to conserve fuel. Pay particular attention to controls and other safety devices.

Check fire extinguishers to be sure they are fully charged and operable. Be sure that water extinguishers or pump tanks are placed in convenient areas not subject to freezing.

Electrically-heated livestock waterers generally provide a safe supply of ice-free water to livestock during the winter months. However, a substantial number of animals are electrocuted by these waterers each year.

A high percentage of the electrocutions are caused by deteriorated wiring within the waterer housing as a result of moisture accumulations, by defective or deficient heating assembly probably from years of usage, or by improper wiring or grounding when the unit was installed.

Servicing procedures to assure safe operation of electrical water heaters include the following:

First, disconnect the electric power source to the waterer.

Then remove side panels and allow area under the waterer to dry.

Check wiring insulation and replace it with moisture-resistant wire (type U.F.) if it has deteriorated.

Check all wiring from switch to heating element and replace as necessary. Be sure the ground wire is securely fastened to the frame of the waterer and that the ground wire is also attached to the neutral bar in the fuse cabinet.

Check to determine whether the thermostat operates properly. If faulty, replace it.

Check to be sure the bowl is not electrically charged when the fuse is replaced and the switch is placed in the on position. Use an ohmmeter or test lamp to avoid getting an electrical shock.

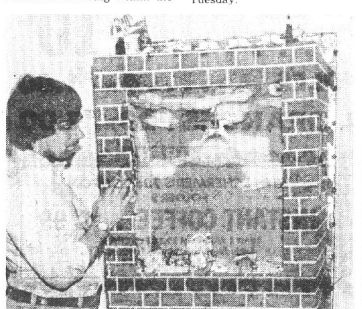

Farmers have a choice of several different kinds of farm business record keeping systems.

Many farmers in Madison county use the Illinois Farm Record Book published by the Agricultural Economics Department of the University of Illinois.

That book is excellent for income tax purposes and for depreciation schedules. It also provides for a limited farm business analysis.

A supply of the books for 1974 is available at the county Extension office for $1 each.

STEAL TAPE PLAYER
A tape player, two speakers and about 18 tape recordings were stolen from the auto of Barry Koester, 2415 Delmar Ave., parked at his home, Koester reported at 12:45 p.m. Tuesday.

FIRST PRIZE IN DOOR-DECORATING. Don Bast of Highland, a junior accounting major at SIUE, stands beside the door of the micro-records office. The office won first place in an annual Christmas door-decorating contest sponsored by the Student Activities Office at SIUE. The prize for first place was a Christmas cake which the office staff consumed in a hurry at its Christmas party.

Babson

might tug their purse strings tighter because of impaired employment and income prospects.

Thus, an economic setback of wider scope than a "growth recession" seems imminent.

NO DOUBT

ABOUT INFLATION. Almost as critical to businessmen, consumers, and investors is inflation; 1973 was a traumatic period on this score, inflation virulent and visible along a broad front.

In the opinion of the Babson's Reports staff, the only certainty is the degree of inflation that will be seen in 1974. It is too much to hope it will be mild in view of the ongoing escalation of fuel costs along with the inevitable hikes in other fields.

Also, the second phase of multi-year labor pacts signed in 1973 will automatically boost wages nearly as much as in the past year, as could any new pacts negotiated over the next twelve months. Many will be augmented by raises guaranteed under living-cost escalation clauses.

As of now, we forecast an inflation rise of approximately 6 per cent in 1974.

Here are some of the reasons for this seemingly moderate projection:

Interest rates may already have eased over this cycle; monetary authorities are not likely to completely abandon their anti-inflation credit stance unless inflation is superheated by threat of a deeper recession than is now anticipated.

Belaguered consumers will display sharper price resistance; and the cooling of domestic and foreign industrial activity should ease the feverish scramble for raw materials and commodities.

LESS PRESSURE

ON THE LABOR FRONT.

No one can blame the unions solely for the acute inflationary pressures of 1973. Little help from Mother Nature in important crop areas, the expansion of acreage put to seed assures a new record crop in 1974.

There should also be some increase in livestock and poultry supplies over the next twelve months. The picture as a whole promises more reasonable food prices, particularly after the 1974 growing season is well under way.

"A PENNY SAVED IS...

NOT GOOD FOR BUSINESS.

Although consumers have been a bulwark against recessions for nearly three decades, they may not be the steeper this time. Spending will be hurt by weakened consumer confidence, soaring living costs, and the burden of installment payments.

Now, the high cost of both heating and transportation fuel along with gasoline shortages may limit shopping jags.

Neighborhood mini-plazas and local retail outlets will benefit from this situation.

Since neighborhood shopping tends to be less extravagant than that done in the impulse-buying supermarkets, we foresee a period during which consumers will channel more of their disposable income into savings and debt repayment.

Long term, this is healthy and lays the groundwork for the next cyclical upbeat in the economy, but the short-run impact is negative.

Less consumer spending will mean reduced inventory buying, with perhaps some backup of goods.

EMPLOYMENT—

PERSONAL INCOME.

Aggregate personal income during 1973 will not show the vigor of the past two years. It will be up, but boosted more by transfer payments (social security, unemployment compensation, etc.) than by earned income.

Salaries and wages and income of proprietorships and partnerships will average lower than in 1973 because of the slower business pace.

Support will come, however, from wages hikes in multi-year pacts, new agreements, and built-in cost-of-living adjustments. Employment faces reductions in 1974, and the jobless rate could rise 6 per cent, but may run as much as 7 per cent at the topmost point.

As in the early years of this decade, unemployment will be difficult to shrink because of the flood of new workers into the labor pool.

BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION

While the nation's housing needs are still acute, and costly money has snuffed out the boom after the high rate of residential starts in 1972 and the first half of 1973.

Government figures on building permits issued give no hint of early improvement in this sector which utilizes so much manpower and materials. Resumption of vitality must await a longer spell of anti-recession credit policy than the past six weeks.

By late spring of 1974 or continued on next page sometime during the summer, residential building should bottom out, probably near the 1.1-billion annual rate, and thereafter the economy can derive much-needed support from this source.

For 1974 as a whole, new residential starts should approximate 1.3 million units. Industrial and commercial construction bolstered overall building activity for a good part of 1973. But high costs, supply shortages, and now the lack of clarity as to consumer spending plans and shopping patterns are likely to cause some hesitancy for nonresidential building during the coming year.

CORPORATE PROFITS AND DIVIDENDS
The amazing 1973 gains in overall business profits after taxes were due to basic and uncomplicated business principles and not to profiteering on the part of corporate enterprises, as claimed by some unthinking critics.

Fact is, we saw what happens to profits when plant and equipment operates at full capacity and there is little simultaneous cut-throat price competition.

For 1974, however, the outlook is less promising. In general, we cannot count on the strong demand of the past year, and costs will continue to move upward.

The situation will be worsened if fuel allocations prevent profitable use of operating facilities.

But, barring extremes, net corporate profits should dip about 14 percent overall, with the greatest year-to-year slippage in the first half of 1974.

But some firms, notably those with food-related operations, may even stack up favorably vs. 1973 because of the afflictions they suffered at least part of last year.

As to dividend disbursements, if operational disruptions are not overly severe, corporate dividends can increase again in 1974. The reason for this is that anti-inflation rules permitted only a thin slice of 1972 and 1973 profits to be paid out.

POLITICS—DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL

Politics caused a good deal of the uneasiness and uncertainty which marked 1973.

The unending sequence of "shakes" in connection with the investigations on Capitol Hill make any reasonable forecast of political prospects for 1974 an exercise in futility.

It is to be hoped that the biennial congressional and gubernatorial elections upcoming next fall will produce some semblance of reason to replace the chaotic circus.

While those most eager to have the President impeached may have lessened their efforts, just how much of a working relationship between the Administration and Congress will be restored is questionable.

Past election years have usually brought forth some productive efforts on Capitol Hill; these will be most vitally needed in 1974. There should be no federal tax increases except on the Social Security impost in the year ahead.

While the staff of Babson's Reports is hopeful that there will be no resumption of fighting in the Mideast, negotiations leading to more stable conditions there will be arduous.

Arabs will doubtless use their oil strategy as an overhanging threat for years to come in dealing with the industrialized nations of the world, although they may moderate their attitude somewhat.

The emergence of underdeveloped nations is never smooth, and unrest will surface from time to time. We do not expect, however, actual military action between the great powers in 1974.

INTEREST RATES
AND THE BOND MARKET
Late in 1973 the monetary authorities at least temporarily reined their anti-inflation credit constriction in order to forestall a serious recession due to fuel shortages.

Confronted with both inflation and recession, the Federal Reserve may be forced to vary its tactics. For now, the need to protect the economy prevails.

So the peak in interest rates may have been seen for this ground.

With an economy-propping monetary policy and business needing less borrowed capital, money rates will likely back away from recent peaks; but long-term rates will likely back away from recent peaks, which had risen less than short-term in the past two years, will recede more slowly.

This means healthier bond markets in 1974 than for the past two years.

Investors requiring the best possible yield on their investments should find, therefore, that bonds, preferred stocks, and even some common stocks generally regarded as "income issues" can now provide an attractive yield, plus some capital appreciation as interest rates decline.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

STOCK MARKET OUTLOOK
Two significant 1973 scares for the stock market were (1) the early-year panic over food prices and supplies, and (2) the still-current worries over oil and gasoline shortages with the unhappy consequences for business and employment.

The former proved temporary and should not be overly distressing in 1974, but fuel-energy troubles will be harder to resolve.

Hence, depending on the Mideast picture, the stock market may face more uneasiness that could carry well into spring. By then, Israeli-Arab peace talks may have made sufficient progress for investors to start thinking in terms of better business some months away.

And the stock market could assume a more hopeful stance.

Now is a practical time for investors to effect portfolio realignments to meet individual goals. Start switching to improve your position whether you are seeking growth or a combination of reasonable income and some inflation protection.

These changes can be tied in with tax considerations. With numerous depressed issues in virtually every industry group, bargain hunting for well-established stocks and convertible securities (of companies with proven earnings capabilities) which are selling at the lower end, historically, of their price-earnings range.

Industry groups looking particularly promising for 1974 include fuel and energy stocks, some of the life and property-casualty insurance issues, offshore securities, and farm equipment stocks.

The farsighted investor will find potentially rewarding buys in medical equipment and supplies and consumer goods. Even the currently out-of-favor S & L, building, and apparel groups will offer plenty of good candidates where cash reserves are ample.

Such buying should be selected in early 1974, but as the year progressive buying might be in order.

In short, as 1974 makes its debut, Babson's Reports, instead of repeating the cautionary note sounded a year ago, suggests that this is the time for realism and courage, longer-range vision, and a healthy measure of faith in this country and our economy.

Seek jobs for veterans

A nationwide effort to find suitable and rewarding jobs for Vietnam Era disabled veterans has been launched by the Veterans Administration, the National Alliance of Businessmen and the Department of Labor.

Acting on a letter from President Nixon in which he expressed great concern for suitable careers for disabled veterans, VA Administrator Donald E. Johnson has mailed employment questionnaires to 41,000 of the 388,000 Vietnam Era veterans who have service connected disabilities.

Designed to identify veterans who want further training to qualify for jobs, or who want help in finding a suitable job, the questionnaire will be sent to all Vietnam disabled during the coming months.

"Special help - over and above GI Bill education - is available to veterans with service connected disabilities," Johnson explained. "This is a follow up to insure that the full spectrum of VA benefits has been used to the maximum toward helping the individual veteran overcome disabilities."

The Veterans Administration is permitted by current legislation to pay disabled veterans who are drawing compensation an additional $170 per month while they are in school.

The monthly stipend, which is increased when there are dependents, is in addition to VA payments for tuition, books and other expenses, and it does not effect compensation payments that range from $28 (for a 10 per cent disability) to as high as $1,222 (for 100 per cent when loss of limbs is involved).

The 66,000 member National Alliance of Businessmen is developing job openings for disabled veterans to be identified by the VA survey. The Department of Labor is cooperating through its state employment offices.

Veterans who respond to the survey that they want a job or job training will be contacted immediately by VA counselors. Those who want jobs will be referred to a NAB job opening.

Suitable job training programs will be found for others. VA counselors will carefully assess each veterans physical capacities, job skills and qualifications before making referrals.

Unemployment among disabled veterans is estimated at 14 per cent. Administrator Johnson expressed confidence that the rate could be lowered considerably and kept down through the cooperation being extended by the nation's business enterprises.

U.S. takeover of aid to aged, blind and disabled on Jan. 1

Beginning Jan. 1, the federal Social Security Administration will take over the public, blind and disabled Illinois public aid payments program.

Until now, the programs have been administered by the state, with 50 per cent of the cost reimbursed by the federal government.

Federal law requires states to supplement recipients who are on the rolls when the changeover takes place, but states have the option of not supplementing incomes of recipients added after that.

"In signing a bill for supplementary state funds, Gov. Daniel Walker of Illinois noted that without such funds the federal payments to some recipients who go on the rolls after Jan. 1 would have been lower than the current levels.

"We cannot allow senior citizens and the blind and disabled who must go on welfare to suffer from this change to the federal plan," he commented. "To permit reductions for fixed-income people in a time of soaring inflation would be cold and callous."

Gov. Walker said the additional cost to the state to supplement public aid payments for the three categories will be about $3 million annually.

Because of the state supplements, elderly, blind and disabled persons will be able to collect up to $41 more per month than the federal basic grants provide. The amount of supplement will vary by need.

Besides the cash payments, the state will also pay one-fourth of the cost of 14 different special allowances for social services to blind, elderly and disabled persons.

For example, a blind person would be entitled to an allowance to feed a seeing-eye dog or repair a Braille typewriter.

An allowance for shopping services is provided for shut-in recipients, and disabled persons can receive extra allowances to pay for homemaker services.

Concerts for young people

Educational concerts for young children and for high school age students will be presented in January at Powell Symphony Hall by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

Kinder Konzerts for children from four to eight years old will be performed Wednesday, Jan. 9, at 9:30 and 11 a.m.; Thursday, Jan. 10, at 9:30 and 11 a.m.; Friday, Jan. 11, also at 9:30 and 11 a.m.

They will be conducted by Richard Holmes, timpanist of the St. Louis Symphony and conductor of the Kirkwood Symphony Orchestra. Narrator will be Corky the Clown (Cliff St. James).

The program will include Rossini's Overture to The Barber of Seville; Ravel's Pavane for a Dead Princess; Shostakovich's Polka from Golden Age; these 36 firms dramatically illustrates the diversity of the St. Louis economy.

"Many of our firms are becoming increasingly involved in international trade, and the St. Louis region is a prime location for investment by both domestic and foreign firms which wish to expand in North America. We have numerous excellent sites for facilities of all types of businesses, from manufacturing to warehouse distribution and administrative operations."

"We are also a major U.S. transportation center — for all modes. St. Louis is the largest port on the Mississippi River inland waterways system, and we are the nation's second largest rail and truck centers. Six interstate highways serve St. Louis."

The three government officials and Thayer said St. Louis is already a major air service center. "The FAA has designated our air terminal facility a large hub airport, and we consistently rank among the top 15 metropolitan areas in comparisons of key measures of air transportation activity."

Among the group of metropolitan areas under consideration for the CAB's transatlantic continental designation, St. Louis ranks in the top five in terms of employment, originating and transfer passengers. At present, 10 airlines which currently operate transatlantic service have offices in St. Louis. St. Louis also has 249 non-stop scheduled air carrier arrivals per year from 53 cities throughout the U.S.

Atlantic air terminal status being sought

St. Louis Mayor John H. Pockler, St. Louis County Supervisor, Lawrence K. Roose, East St. Louis Mayor James W. Williams Sr. and Harold E. Thayer, president of the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association, have sent summaries of economic and transportation data and analyses of the metropolitan area to U. S. Congressional delegates from Missouri and Illinois to provide them with background "to support the St. Louis region's efforts to secure Civil Aeronautics Board approval for metropolitan St. Louis to become an international gateway terminal for transatlantic air service."

The data is incorporated in a document prepared by the RCGA and governmental representatives of the City of St. Louis, St. Louis County and East St. Louis.

The effort to secure the transatlantic terminal designation is in response to an announcement by the CAB Sept. 23 that it would consider petitions for securing international air service by domestic carriers from 16 designated U. S. metropolitan centers, of which the St. Louis area is one.

Pockler, Roos, Williams and Thayer sent jointly signed letters to U. S. senators and representatives to forward copies of the research data reports.

In their letters, they said, "The diversity of the St. Louis, St. Louis County and East St. Louis state region's business and industry and our central location are two particularly advantageous characteristics which make St. Louis stand out from the other areas under consideration as potential transatlantic continental sites."

The data which they forwarded and their letter also pointed out that 36 of the largest U. S. firms listed in Fortune magazine have their headquarters in St. Louis. The letter notes, "The variety of business of these 36 firms dramatically illustrates the diversity of the St. Louis economy."

"Many of our firms are becoming increasingly involved in international trade, and the St. Louis region is a prime location for investment by both domestic and foreign firms which wish to expand in North America. We have numerous excellent sites for facilities of all types of businesses, from manufacturing to warehouse distribution and administrative operations."

2 Illinoisans on committee hope for speedy impeachment inquiry

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Chairman Peter W. Rodino's waffling on how the House Judiciary Committee should handle President Nixon's impeachment inquiry is troubling the only two Illinoisans on the committee.

So much so that Rep. Robert McClory of Lake Bluff and Rep. Thomas F. Hailsback of Melrose Park are both urging the House to move forward with the inquiry.

McClory, in a similar plea for "expedient objectivity," said a successful inquiry of so overriding an issue deserves and demands "full bipartisan participation."

McClory, also in talking to a reporter, said "it's time for Rodino to fish or cut bait—or get off the President's back."

Let us, Hailsback said, "therefore proceed expeditiously with full realization of the importance of the responsibility that has been assigned to us."

To Hailsback, the whole affair is a "no-win proposition" for a congressman whose constituency is probably split on President Nixon's guilt or innocence.

"The best thing to do," he said, "is to do what you think is right."

McClory, in a similar plea for "expedient objectivity," said a successful inquiry of so overriding an issue deserves and demands "full bipartisan participation."

McClory, also in talking to a reporter, said "it's time for Rodino to fish or cut bait—or get off the President's back."

Austere holiday at state capitol

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Judging by past standards it was "dry" Christmas at the Statehouse. Conspicuously missing was the profusion of brightly-boxed and ribboned bottles which were once so much a part of the Capitol's Yuletide scene. There were only a few this year.

There were still some Christmas parties, but they were — in the main — comparatively subdued, attracted fewer celebrants, ended sooner and were far less boisterous than in the past.

The extinguishing of the galaxy of Capitol Christmas lights, the austere Christmas and the general dimming of all Yule decorations were in keeping with the national mood of the energy crisis.

But beneath the Statehouse Dome, the shift in spirit and outlook was probably even more pronounced than elsewhere.

For the Illinois Capitol, Christmas of 1973 has placed a milestone ending a long and colorful era in this state's government and politics.

Actually, the old practice of lavish gift-giving among politicians has been steadily diminishing in recent years.

Awarding of bottles of booze or free gifts to anyone has brought many a politician more trouble than good will.

Most state officials and political leaders have learned that the absence of outright gift-giving may not only save them some uncomfortable publicity, but — in contrast — bring them commendation from press and public.

In Springfield, lavish state office parties were frequently given in high office long before Watergate splattered the national scene.

Those holding office today are especially sensitive to any hint of wrongdoing or high-living at the taxpayers' expense.

It is this sensitivity — far more than any ethic laws that may eventually be enacted — that will truly usher in a new era of honesty and dedication to public service in Illinois.

The less-bright Capitol Christmas of 1973 indeed may mark the closing of one era and the beginning of another.

Televised series on law for high school students

"Lex Singularis," a nine-program series on law produced by KETC-TV for high school students, is to be telecast at 10 p.m. Sundays, beginning Dec. 30, on Channel 9.

The Sunday night telecast time was chosen on advice of high school principals as the best possible homework viewing assignment time for students in secondary schools.

Adults may view it, too. "Lex Singularis" handles questions such as: How does law develop? How does it work? Why should there be law at all? by presenting a dramatic vignette depicting a certain aspect of law followed by a panel discussion involving an authority from the legal profession and area students. They trade questions and answers on the content of the earlier portion of the program.

Young actors and actresses from the St. Louis area volunteered to fill roles in segments discussing due process of law, civil and criminal rights, the court system, and the historical background of the Constitution and Bill of Rights.

Town equipment aids Pontoon

Many Pontoon Beach residents were helped during the weekend by Nameoki Township equipment after the heavy snowstorm last week blocked their driveways, and township plows helped clear exits onto the streets.

The action came after Floyd David Moss, village board president of Pontoon Beach, requested assistance at the Nameoki Township Board of Auditors meeting.

Albert Bell, township highway commissioner, expressed reluctance to release the plows because the former village board had rejected an agreement with the township last year for road maintenance in the village.

Bell changed his mind and released three plows after Louis Whitsell, township supervisor, and Lee Adams, a township auditor, volunteered their services to plow the snow from the village roads.

Moss indicated the assistance by the township may open new lines of communication between the township and the village and could lead to several joint programs. The village is in Nameoki Township.

COINS, GUN STOLEN
Gold coins worth $200 and an $85 pistol were stolen from the home of Walton Berger, 3004 Yale Ave., after a basement window was broken to gain entry, it was reported at 11:45 p.m. Tuesday. The home had been ransacked.

Santa pays call at hospital

Granite City Jaycee members played Santa Claus to one of the smallest audiences in years this Christmas, a fact which failed to disturb them one bit as the audience consisted of children confined to the pediatrics ward at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

The traditional visit by Jaycees to the local hospital took place during the weekend when only 12 young patients were in residence in the children's ward.

Santa Claus, portrayed by Jaycee President Owen Ross, distributed gifts and refreshments were served by Bill Weis, project chairman, Emmett Meador and Mrs. Emaline Meador, a Jaycee member.

Apparently adults were not quite so lucky and the remainder of the hospital's facilities were crowded, resulting in a young man, about 21 years old, temporarily being confined to the children's ward. His unexpected appearance also failed to fluster the Jaycees, who presented him with a hurriedly acquired bottle of after-shave lotion, Ross reported.

McKee elected to realtors office

Don McKee, operator of Don McKee Realty Co. in Highland was elected president of the Edwardsville-Collinsville Board of Realtors at a meeting in Edwardsville. Lew Klenke of Holiday Shores was elected vice president and Harry Lewis of Edwardsville was chosen secretary-treasurer.

SCOUT BOARD TO MEET

The executive board of the Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council will meet at 7:30 p.m., today at the Granite City Trust and Savings bank, 1949 Edison Ave. New operating committee chairmen for 1974 will be announced. Orientation of new members of the board also is on the agenda.

QUITE AN ARMFUL. A youthful patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital grasps his large package securely after receiving the gift from Santa Claus, whose traditional appearance in the hospital's pediatrics ward is sponsored by the Granite City Jaycees. Parents and nursing staff members hold other small patients. All were presented gifts and enjoyed refreshments.

Venice GS pupils entertain

The unusually heavy snowfall which forced cancellation of most activities last week failed to deter Venice pupils from presenting their annual Christmas programs at the school.

Youngsters in the third and fourth grades gave a special presentation, "The Birth of Christ," a nativity play, in the school gymnasium for parents and all Venice high school and elementary pupils.

About 100 children participated in the production, arranged and directed by Mrs. Hattie Utley and Mrs. Sina Reeves, third grade teachers, and Mrs. Helen Purkale and Mrs. June McClain, fourth grade faculty members.

Miss Denise Williams, a substitute teacher, served as piano accompanist. In a separate presentation, fifth grade students under the direction of Alice Purdes gave three performances of "Santa's New Look" for grade school pupils.

The five-scene playlet revolved around Santa's attempts throughout the year to reduce his size in order to climb down chimneys and his reappearance the following year as a slimmer more agile St. Nick. Before and after Santa Claus figures were portrayed by Adrienne Humphrey and Tim Free, with Walter Bodie having the understudy role.

Other children in the production were John Williams, coach; Raynard Barbee and Billy Kampmann, policemen; Todd Williams and Sherry Wiley, prisoners; Kenneth Wise, judge; Paul Miller, pizza shop owner; and elves and moths of the year — Lorraine Brimmage, Gloria Mathis, Ethel Fairley, Pamela Rankin, Sherry Wiley, Aletha Gardner, Todd Williams, Jesse White.

SANTA'S NEW LOOK, a program presented by fifth grade pupils at Venice Grade School, featured a stouter Santa (Tim Free), at left, and a more svelte St. Nick (Walter Bodie) after a year of dieting and exercise. About 400 children viewed the musical playlet directed by Mrs. Alice Purdes, a fifth grade teacher and music instructor.

BURGLARY ON HARDING
Items worth $315 were stolen from the home of William Leggett, 2607 Harding Ave., after entry to the house was gained through an unlocked rear window. Taken were a tape player, two speakers and tape recordings.

Cubs entertained at Yule party

Approximately 20 boys of Cub Pack 19 of Washington School were entertained at a Christmas party at the Community Center. The group was visited by Santa who distributed gifts to the youngsters.

The group was led by Joe Williams, Cubmaster, and singing was led by Mrs. Lynn Krug.

DeMolays distribute Yule gifts

DeMolay members and advisors of James Stuart Chapter took Christmas gifts for the children at Shriver's Hospital to their regular meeting and delivered them during the weekend to the children at the hospital.

Included with the gifts were dolls from "The Dress-A-Doll Contest" sponsored by the Granite City Trust & Savings Bank. Presenting the gifts and representing the chapter were Bill Cochran, David Epping, Anthony Tsigoloff and Bill Berger.

They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maxwell, Master Councilor Cochran, in charge of the regular meeting, announced that the indoor olympics and chess, ping pong and pool tournaments will be held at the Masonic Temple beginning at 10 Saturday morning.

make good mulch

By WAYNE B. SIEFFERT
Environmental Horticulturist
Christmas tree boughs and needles can be a good winter mulch for bulbs and perennials.

Christmas tree limbs are ideal for catching snow and blowing leaves when evenly placed on the soil. This brush-like effect of the mulch prevents winter burn from winds and rot injury from freezing and thawing.

Some light through the mulch promotes good survival of evergreen perennials like strawberries, ground covers and pansies while the loose covering breaks the wind. The insulating effect of a mid-winter mulch keeps the soil cold to retard early spring growth.

Pine boughs are the only mulch for this mid-winter job. Where flowering bulbs and assorted perennials occur, leaves, sawdust, wood chips and straw are equally effective.

When you and I agree on the best qualities of fireplace wood we can quit arguing and make a list. Some like wood that starts easy and has a nice fragrance. Others like wood that burns for two days and throws lots of heat. Some like lots of sparks while others are afraid of burning the house down.

Hickory, oak and black locust are top for heat and long-burning qualities with cherry and apple a very close second. Apple and black cherry rank best for fragrance while birch and hickory rank best for sparks. Ash, elm and hickory are easiest to start.

Elm, silver maple, sycamore and hackberry are good fireplace wood but seem to be the "special" category. Basswood and cotton wood are two losers that won't burn if they are green and have poor lasting qualities when they are dry.

Burglars broke into the home of William Johnson, associate judge serving in the Granite City circuit court, during the weekend, and stole furnishings, appliances and a coin collection valued at $1,500 to $2,000. Johnson lives at Peter's Station near Edwardsville. Entry was gained by breaking a window. Loot, apparently taken out the front door to a waiting car, included two television sets, two radios, kitchen utensils, shotguns and rifles and the coin collection.

Koch family rekindles childhood experiences

Christmas Eve is a nostalgic time for most persons. For senior residents in nursing homes and hospitals, or bedfast at home, perhaps it is the loneliest time of all.

In remembrance of many happy Christmas Eves, Dr. Patricia M. Koch, a Granite City physician, her four children and seven of her grandchildren this year visited two special friends, whose talents had added to the brightness of the Koch family's Yuletide season on many occasions.

The Kochs first visited Mrs. Bessie Morgan Reese, a resident at the Colonades Nursing Home, where she has been confined the past year with an arthritic ailment and, more recently, with a hip fracture. A long-time resident of the community, Mrs. Reese is a retired school teacher who also taught music after school hours to scores of Quad-City children. In earlier years, she operated a private kindergarten here, attended by the Koch youngsters. She also organized and conducted choral groups in town.

Each Christmas Eve, Mrs. Reese spent part of the day at the Koch family home, leading Christmas carols and reciting widely known Yuletide stories and poems, including "Twas the Night Before Christmas." During last week's outing, Dr. Koch's two oldest granddaughters recited the same poem for Mrs. Reese, and the entire family sang Christmas songs.

The Kochs also paid a call at the home of Mrs. Robert (Mary) Dempster, 2430 Edison Ave., who was at home for the short stay from the Colonial Haven Nursing Home. She has been a patient at the facility since suffering a fracture of the hip.

Mrs. Dempster for many years portrayed Santa Claus for the Koch children and managed to keep her identity a secret from at least one child until adulthood, the physician recalled.

Gifts were presented to both ladies by the family.

Accompanying Dr. Koch were her sons and daughters-in-law, Ed and Cathy Koch and children of St. Charles, Mo., and Robert and Connie Koch and children of Granite City; and her daughters, Mrs. Dennis (Dorothy) Baker and daughters of Granite City and Miss Mickey Koch, who is at home.

Long Lake firemen have busy Christmas

Long Lake firemen responded Tuesday and Wednesday to three fire calls approximately in the same area on Route 111 and South Sand Prairie Lane near Horseshoe Lake.

A motorist called the fire department at 4:15 p.m. Christmas day to report two old buildings, mainly of concrete block construction, were on fire. Twenty men responded to the call. There was no damage estimate as both buildings were to be torn down by the state.

At 11 a.m. Wednesday, 15 Long Lake firemen responded to another call in the same area to another old state-owned building. The firemen used 2,500 gallons of water to extinguish the flames.

On Christmas day the firemen also answered a 6:15 p.m. fire call to the Lewis Oil Co. where an old service station shed caught fire. The fire was believed to have been caused by a defective water heater. Damage was estimated at $500.

Man shot, critically hurt

Victor Piechocinski, 24, of 2405 Sunbury Ave., was in critical condition in the intensive care unit of Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, today after a fight with his brother at 10:45 p.m. Tuesday.

The brother, Steven Piechocinski, 20, at the same address, said the shooting was accidental. He also was injured in the altercation. He was charged with reckless conduct.

Victor suffered a gunshot wound to his upper left leg. He also had small cuts on both hands. He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital before being transferred to the St. Louis hospital.

Steven suffered a cut to his nose, which required sutures, and injuries to his left ear. His left eye also was blackened.

Police reported they found Victor lying in the hallway and Steven in a bedroom. They did not find a gun.

Farm value requests due

Applications for the special assessment of farm land used solely for agricultural purposes will be due prior to Jan. 1, according to Frank Kirk, director of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs.

Special assessments are permitted under a new law which was signed by Gov. Dan Walker in August, changing the farm acreage requirement from "more than 40 acres" to "more than ten acres." The law will now also include all counties, Kirk said.

The amended law provides for those who own more than ten acres of farm land to be assessed on the basis of fair cash value, as determined by the amount the land would bring when sold voluntarily for farming or agricultural purposes. Kirk said the land must have been used for farming or agricultural purposes for at least three years prior to the application for special assessment.

Applications should be sent to the Supervisor of Assessments, County Assessor or Board of Assessors in the county in which the property is located and should be made by Jan. 1 each year.

THREATENED, ROBBED William Berry, 2104 Bryan Ave., reported at 7:40 p.m. Wednesday that he had been robbed of his wallet and $15. He said a man offered him a ride from one tavern to another but demanded his wallet as they were driving in the West Granite City area. The man then let Berry out of the car near Rock Road and Denver Street.

Some Illinois schools facing fuel problems

"Men say that winter was bad that year; fuel was scarce and food was dear." —Edna St. Vincent Millay.

In lines from her "Merry Maid," she could well have been talking about the winter of 1973-74. Indeed, fuel is scarce and certain foods are very dear, if available at all.

And no segment of the population is immune to these hardships. Take schools, for instance. A fuel crisis is not only in the making for many of the 1,900-plus school districts in the state, it is here. Ask Robert Sampson.

"The situation does not look good," he said. "In fact, it's very bleak." As head of the Energy Coordinating Unit for the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Sampson is receiving 12 to 15 calls per day from school districts and others concerning the energy crisis.

"The majority of calls I receive are from superintendents of schools or their business managers regarding the increasing price of fuel," explained Sampson.

"Many are worried about budget override—exceeding their budget because they have to pay more for fuel. This is particularly hard on small districts."

"Competitive bids are let by school districts each spring for fuel suppliers for the coming school year. However, federal regulations deem these contracts null and void if fuel is not available from the supplier or is channeled elsewhere."

Too, many new school districts are finding it difficult to find a supplier. Other suppliers are going out of business, leaving the school district up in the air.

"Some districts are receiving fuel on a 30-day basis," said Sampson, who is also OSPI's director of environmental education. "Those cases which are considered 'handshakes' are turned over to the state Fuel Hotline."

The Hotline works out of the Department of Agriculture and is located on the Illinois State Fairgrounds.

Although fuel to heat schools is at a premium, another problem rests with gasoline and diesel fuel, or the lack of it.

"Our biggest problem right now is the lack of an adequate supply of motor fuel," he said. "The problems in this area are varied, with a recurring one involving school buses. Many districts have had to increase the number of buses to coincide with increasing enrollment. Now they can't find enough fuel to run them."

Enter a new problem: If you can't get the children to school, the amount of state aid received by a district decreases. According to the School Code, attendance is the basis for silling state aid claims.

"Although the area of heating fuel is critical, as it becomes increasingly difficult to obtain gasoline, it becomes harder to get the kids to school."

Recently, legislation was introduced in the General Assembly to permit the OSPI to waive monetary penalties against state school districts if they close because they lack fuel. Under existing laws, such penalties would have to be imposed.

In addition to receiving telephone calls, Sampson has been speaking throughout the state on the subject of fuel conservation.

The holder of a Ph.D. degree in zoology, he has set up a comprehensive set of fuel conservation guidelines unique to schools which, if followed, could save up to 10 per cent of the entire state's fuel consumption.

And the fuel problem is a two-way street. Sampson has received, as well as given, ideas on fuel conservation.

"From the letters we have received, the plan to save energy which is most prevalent deals with a shorter school week and a longer school day."

A school day, as prescribed by the School Code, consists of at least five clock hours of school work.
